McCormick Opens Session
With Discussion of Wilson Letter

WASHINGTON, Mar. 10.—With efforts to arrive at compromises meeting with no results, the senate today began on resolutions on Article X of the League of Nations covenant. Republican "bitter-enders," by playing off certain groups against other groups, kept Senators from uniting on any of the proposed compromises.

Senator McCormick of Illinois, a "most bitter-end," opened the debate with a discussion of President Wilson's letter to Senator Hitchcock on Article X.

No senator dared predict whether the difference separating the two parties will be reconciled and some form of compromise reservation on this article adopted.

But the belief is general that if a so-called compromise is agreed to it will mark a surrender by one side or the other of principles which both have repeatedly declared to be vital and never to be surrendered.

The question today is just what it was last November. It is simply: Shall the United States assume an obligation to help protect other nations against a predatory warfare, or shall it refuse that obligation?

SOCIALISTS TO PUT 'POLITICAL OFFENSE' QUERY TO PRESIDENT

CHICAGO, Mar. 10.—Socialists on April 15 will demand of President Wilson a yes or no answer to questions regarding "political offenders." It was announced here today. The party's national committee, meeting here, arranged for a mass meeting in Washington on that date—the anniversary of Eugene V. Debs' incarceration. The delegations will march to the White House, where they hope to be received by the President.

Debs is the only man considered as the Socialist candidate for president, it was stated. The party convention May 8 in New York is expected to nominate the imprisoned leader. In the events Debs is not at liberty, the campaign will be conducted by the vice presidential candidate.

PUBLICITY GIVEN TO S. F. ETHICS CASE IS DEPLORED BY M. D.'S

SAN FRANCISCO, Mar. 10.—With infinite tact the medicals of this county have smoothed an incident involving professional conduct, good faith, ethics—and a patient.

After seven hours debate, the San Francisco County Medical Society ruled that when Dr. Adolph Baer, eminent aurist, treated a patient, Dr. Robert D. Cohn, another ear specialist, without first getting the latter's consent, he "laid himself open to the charges of unethical conduct by carelessly failing to assure himself that Dr. Cohn was no longer in attendance," but "acted in good faith in assuming the fact."

$500,000 Oil Corporation Formed at Santa Ana

Articles of incorporation of the Superior Petroleum Company, an organization in which about 20 Santa Ana and Orange county men are interested, are on file today with County Clerk J. M. Backs. Headquarters of the company will be in Santa Ana.

The directors of the organization are Aaron C. Raphael, Los Angeles; D. Eymann Huff, El Modena; James R. Scott, Brea, and David N. Kelly and Joe C. Burke, Santa Ana.

The company holds a 20-year lease on 37 acres of ground in the Richfield district.

Wells are now drilling on all sides of the lease.

Among the companies drilling in the territory are the Standard, General Petroleum and Union. One well

'Gas' Rate Hinges on New 'Strikes', Say Petrol Magnates

CHICAGO, Mar. 10.—The future price of gasoline hinges on success in making new oil strikes, according to oil men attending a National Petroleum congress here today.

New oil strikes only, in the opinion of the operators, will prevent another soar in the price of gasoline, now selling from 25 to 29 cents a gallon, according to the locality.

"There is a great shortage of oil," said Thomas O. Harris, secretary of the Independent Oil & Gas Producers Assn., Shreveport, La. "It is impossible to hazard a prediction as to the future."

"Permits to allow operation of wells in Mexico, recently granted Americans, by President Carranza will ease the situation some. But all depends on success in making new strikes."

Harris believes the untapped oil resources of this country amount to considerably more than is generally thought. He predicted the near future will see fuel oil displacing coal in hotels. Several hotels in the south, he said, have started using fuel oil.

A freakish scattered rain falling last night between 8 o'clock and 2 o'clock added varying totals to season totals in Orange county.

The fall runs all the way from .32 inch at Huntington Beach to .78 inch in Santa Ana and .81 inch at the Jacobs ranch on the Irvine property.

A hard storm wind with hail in spots accompanied the rain. There were some flashes of lightning far off.

The rains this year have been coming down so gently that old-timers had begun to think that Jupiter had forgotten how to deliver rain in sheets. He hadn't forgotten, for there were some heavy dashes last night.

Every bit of rain that falls now comes as a help to growing crops and to the bean crops that are to be planted in May. Sugar beets just coming up and getting good starts in life are benefitted. Barley has been growing the last two weeks as barley never before grew, and a spell of sunshine now will add materially to its growth.

A farmer on the Irvine ranch this week, before today's storm, dug down into the heavier soil on his lease and found that the moisture extends down thirty to thirty-two inches below the surface as a result of this winter's rains. Last year when he planted this same piece of ground the moisture was down only eighteen to twenty inches.

Last night's rain will shove the wet strip a little deeper into the dry strip. Bean growers say that another two and a half or three inches of rain this season will put them in fine shape for a big crop.

Beesmen are highly pleased with the way the rains have been coming the last six weeks. Bees are work-

MOTHER ASKS SEARCH FOR ELOPERS

County Garage Employee Is Said to Have Gone With Girl to Fresno

The Anaheim police department is today sending out circulars in an effort to stop the alleged elopement of Felix Smith, 25, an employee of the Orange County Garage, and Ruby Orosco, aged 16, of Anaheim. The couple are supposed to have left the county garage here today.

It was said Smith has been absent from his work since Sunday, having asked for a few days leave in order to recover from a cold.

The police were called into the case by the girl's mother, Mrs. Beatrice Fox, who is apparently greatly opposed to the marriage of the couple. She gave the police a complete description of her daughter and Smith.

The couple are supposed to be traveling in an Oakland automobile. The Orosco girl is described as being 5 feet and 2 inches tall and weighing about 118 pounds. She wore a red coat and black skirt when she left home. She is without a hat.

Smith is described as being 5 feet and 9 inches tall. His father, O. P. Smith, lives at Wilmington.

City Marshal Wood of Anaheim today notified Sheriff Jackson of the alleged elopement and the Sheriff's office is lending its assistance to the Anaheim authorities in their efforts to run down the couple before a marriage license can be secured.

County Clerk Backs also was notified to refuse the couple a license in the event they applied for a license of him.

WASHINGTON, Mar. 10.—The government in the Supreme Court today challenged the right of states to withdraw ratification of the prohibition amendment. The attack was directed against the action of Ohio voters in rejecting national prohibition after it had been ratified by the state legislature. Ohio was the thirty-sixth state to ratify, giving the necessary two-thirds to make it a constitutional amendment.

YANKEE SEA WAR PLANS ATTACKED

Sims In New Assault Upon
Navy Department's Conduct of Operations

WASHINGTON, Mar. 10.—Claim of a loss to the Allies of 500,000 lives, 2,500,000 tons of shipping and $15,000,000,000 was laid on the navy department today by Rear Admiral William S. Sims.

This cost, he said, resulted from the failure of the naval department to take prompt action against the German submarine menace.

"America should have landed 1,000,000 men in France by March 1918, instead of 400,000 and forced a German surrender by July, 1918, instead of the following November, Sims asserted.

"My policies were finally adopted, but four to six months late," Sims said.

LETTERS OF WOMAN IN DUAL WAR LOVE SLAYING ARE BARED

CHICAGO, Mar. 10.—Mrs. Ruth Randall, divorcee, who murdered Clifford Bleyer in her apartments here Saturday night and then took her own life, was the apex of other love triangles, Coroner Hoffman learned today.

A bundle of scandal notes found among possessions of Mrs. Randall have been investigated by the coroner. The letters include notes from women whose husbands have been intimate with Mrs. Randall, Hoffman said today. A diary of Ruth Randall's life telling of her relations with Bleyer also was found.

One of the letters made public by the coroner's office is from Mrs. Margaret Ness White. She now lives in Iowa. The letter is an answer to one Mrs. Randall wrote her husband, according to Hoffman.

WANT CITY HOSPITAL
REDLANDS, Mar. 10.—Plans for a new hospital for the city, to be municipally owned and operated, were presented to the city trustees at a meeting. They were received with some favor by the trustees, but no action was taken, as City Attorney Leonard asked for more time to look up the law regarding cities of the sixth class to determine whether Redlands can legally buy a hospital, equip it and operate it.

Santa Ana Stands Forth As Merchandising Center For All Orange County

Yesterday's rather striking Spring Fashion edition of the Register is another fine example of the co-operation that exists between the business men of Santa Ana and the "Old Home Paper."

The Register is a bit proud of the edition. It was undeniably a good piece of work, and could only have been completed on time and in good order in a very well equipped and efficient shop; but a great share of the credit is due to the business men themselves.

It is this sort of co-operation that sets Santa Ana apart as the leading trading center in this section of Southern California, and keeps her a few strides ahead in the march of progress. There is nothing the people of the town may desire that cannot be brought about by just such co-operation.

The Spring Fashion edition issued yesterday is not merely a scheme for the exploitation of the town. It tells a true story of the preparation which Santa Ana merchants have made to meet the popular demands of the progressive, discriminating people of this county. The business firms of Santa Ana have searched America over in an effort to bring together the most exhaustive and most comprehensive displays of new fashion ideas for Spring and Summer. Some of them have even reached out to foreign countries in order to make their exposition distinctive and complete, and there is no longer any reason why people should go farther than Santa Ana to find their heart's desire for the new and dependable and beautiful in fashionable wearing apparel.

There are displays in several of the store windows in Santa Ana this week that would be a credit to any mercantile concern in the west. There are exhibits inside many of the stores that could hardly be surpassed in point of beauty or fashionable art. This is especially true of the stores specializing in women's wear, because the feminine apparel and the materials from which they are to be created will permit a display of more dainty character, but the showing made by the dealers in men's wear is decidedly attractive, and the fashions represented are entirely correct. The men's wear this season portrays sturdy, substantial American characteristics. Although the styles in men's clothing embody no abrupt changes in cut, there are many new features to be considered and the Santa Ana clothiers are showing them all.

The gratifying part of it all is that these untiring efforts on the part of the business life of the town are fully appreciated by the town's people and by the others who like to make Santa Ana their shopping center.

The continuation of this fine effort and the development of this spirit of enterprise, together with the co-operation of the people, can lead to but one end—a greater and better Santa Ana, with more prosperity passing around—a busier, brighter community and a full measure of the joy of living.

Famous Star of Musical Comedy Weds 4th Time

CHICAGO, Mar. 10.—Actors and actresses, as well as vaudeville and musical comedy fans throughout the country are astir over the report that Nora Bayes, one of the most noted comedienne in the United States, has been married for the fourth time.

Miss Bayes at present is playing the stellar role in the "Ladies First" company, now filling an engagement at one of this city's leading theaters.

The fourth and latest husband of the famous singer of popular songs is Arthur Gordon, according to a report which reached here from Springfield, Ill.

Gordon also is in the cast of the "Ladies First" organization. For several seasons Miss Bayes appeared in vaudeville with Jack Norworth. The team of Norworth and Bayes was one of the most popular traveling the "twice-a-day" circuits.

MONTESANO, Wash., Mar. 10.—Final rebuttal testimony of the prosecution was to be introduced in the Centralia murder trial here today. After the close of the state's case, expected to come early in the afternoon, the defense was scheduled to take a very short time in rebuttal, after which the way will be cleared for the court's instructions to the jury and the arguments of the opposing attorneys.

Only the loose ends of testimony remain to be written into the record after four and a half weeks of evidence. The final effort of the prosecution to batter down the alibi claimed by Eugene Barnett and begun yesterday. Several soldiers and civilians who entered and searched the Roderick hotel, next to the I. W. Wall, immediately after the shooting testified that Barnett was not there at the time.

According to his claim, Barnett was in the lobby of the Roderick throughout the shooting. Mr. and Mrs. John McAllister, proprietors of the hotel, have testified that he was with them sitting by the stove when the shooting began. Witnesses for the prosecution testified Barnett fired the shot which resulted in the death of Warren Grimm. This shot was fired from an upstairs window of the Avalon hotel across the street, the defense has now admitted, asserting though it was fired by John Joe Davis, one of the men directly connected with the tragedy who were never captured.

NEW'S SISTER SAYS HE TOLD HER HE DID NOT SLAY SWEETHEART

LOS ANGELES, Mar. 10.—In an affidavit made public today Miss Edna Clancy declares her half brother, Harry New, reputed son of United States Senator New of Indiana, told her he did not kill his sweetheart, Frieda Lesser, for whose murder he is now serving an indeterminate sentence of from ten years to life imprisonment in San Quentin penitentiary.

Believing himself about to die, according to Miss Clancy's affidavit, New made a statement to her in San Quentin recently, in which he said Miss Lesser committed suicide because he told her he was "not going to have anything more to do with her" after she had told him she had not been true to him.

RUSS BEDS' PEACE PROPOSAL REJECTED BY JAP DIPLOMATS

TOKIO, March 10.—The diplomatic advisory council meeting today decided to ignore the peace offer recently made to all the major powers by the Soviet government of Russia.

(By ED L. KEEN, United Press Staff Correspondent)
LONDON, March 10.—Political observers here today considered it significant that the declaration on economic conditions in the world, as drawn up by the council of premiers and made public here last night makes no specific recommendations regarding Russia and mentions the Soviet nation only by pointing out that it has armies of more than 1,500,000 men in the field, demobilization of which is a primary condition for European peace.

It had been believed that the note would treat Russia in considerable detail, amplifying the council's earlier recommendations for resumption of trade.

The manifesto covers the present world commercial situation comprehensively—especially as to conditions in Europe. It does not, however provide for any general pooling and redistribution of foodstuffs and supplies of raw materials of the different nations.

The suggestion that Germany be allowed to borrow abroad does not mention any exact plan by which this measure might be carried out.

The council agrees there are no short cuts to Europe's economic rehabilitation—and to reduction of prices. It believes, however, that general demobilization particularly in Eastern Europe and Russia, will be a vital first step toward this end and recommends that:

Armies everywhere be reduced to a peace footing and armaments everywhere be limited to a point as low as compatible with safety.

New states establish friendly co-operation and take steps to resume industry and increase their industrial production.

Extravagance be suppressed throughout the world, expenditures reduced and steps taken to obtain deflation of currencies by reduction of governmental expenditures.

Taxes be increased where necessary and provisions made to obtain commercial credits despite the exchange situation. Removal of trade obstacles, making easy the exchange of essential commodities, it believes, is one step to this end.

Devastated regions be restored through loans, in anticipation of Germany's reparations payments. An extension of time is allowed Germany to make proposals for fixing total reparations.

NEWSPAPERMAN HEAD OF COMMERCE BOARD

SAN LUIS OBISPO, Calif., Mar. 10.—Crispe Carriel, newspaperman formerly of San Francisco and Los Angeles, today was named secretary and manager of the chamber of commerce here. Carriel was credited with doing considerable to bring the 1920 foreign trade convention to San Francisco. He has been city editor of the Daily Telegraph here for the last few months.

AMBULANCES RUSH TO MYSTERY L. A. WRECK

LOS ANGELES, March 10.—A mystery wreck on Crenshaw boulevard near the Pacific Electric "air-line" engaged the attention of the sheriff's office today. A large automobile which appeared to have been driven into a ditch and set afire, was the cause of three ambulance calls early today. No one was found near the wreck, nor were any identification marks discovered. The machine was badly burned.

Bisbee Kidnapping Trial Bitterness on Increase

TOMBSTONE, Ariz., Mar. 10.—The charged atmosphere that surrounds the Bisbee deportation trial quivered with excitement today when, just before taking of evidence was to begin, an incident occurred that involved both a defense and a prosecution witness.

The feeling here is growing more bitter daily.

Mike Ellich, a defense witness, was arrested charged with robbing the store of M. S. Benderach in Bisbee immediately following the deportations of July, 1917. Benderach was one of the men deported.

Ellich was arrested just before he went before the superior court to become naturalized. Benderach, appearing to oppose Ellich's petition, became himself a subject of investigation which may lead to perjury charges.

The question whether Austrians applying for citizenship from the Bisbee district remained at work during the miners' strike which preceded the deportations was made a test of loyalty in the naturalization. The investigation of Benderach followed when he testified he was not an I. W. W.

Naturalization Examiner Eldridge declared he had evidence to prove Benderach was an I. W. W.

"You may present your evidence," said Superior Judge Lockwood. "If it appears Benderach was a member of the I. W. W., I shall instruct the county attorney to prosecute him for perjury."

Benderach is a leading witness for

GIVES SCENARIO ADVICE

Agnes C. Johnston, who in addition to being the youngest writer on the Thomas H. Ince scenario staff, is the author of Charles Ray's new photoplay, "Alarm Clock Andy" coming to the West End Theatre tomorrow, believes that the best possible training for a person who would furnish stories for the movies is an intimate contact with all types of people.

"I don't think it is necessary for a writer to go through all the experiences of life herself in order to write about them," said Miss Johnston recently. "I have never been married, divorced, or arrested. But I've been moving around the world almost continuously since the age of six months. My family has lived in every state in the Union and several foreign countries."

"By the time I reached high school I was an experienced traveler. I had always had an ambition to write. My first scenario, written during my senior year at school, was called 'Tried for His Own Murder.'"

LOCAL HI NINE "ON WITH THE DANCE"

SWAMPED BY FULLERTON

Playing a listless game of baseball, the Santa Ana team went down to defeat yesterday before the Fullerton nine to the tune of 12 to 2. Elwayne Wilcox and Leland Finley were the only members of the local team who played an errorless game, other members of the outfit having as many as from two to five errors checked against them. Some of the men played as though they wished they were not in the game, miffing many easy chances.

Fullerton put across ten runs in the third inning and in the fourth frame put over two more. After this the local team tightened up some but were unable to overcome the big lead hung up by the northern boys.

The Santa Ana lineup at the beginning of the game was as follows: Harold Knight, center field; Elwayne Wilcox, left field; Clarence Brown, right field; Don Hilliard, third base; James Finley, second base; Harold Finley, short stop; Newell Cravath, first base; Howard Cock, pitcher and Bronson Buxton, catcher.

Several changes were made in the lineup when it was seen that the team was having an off day, but this was not done early enough to repair the damage done.

ROCKEFELLER AVERS U. S. SPENDING JAG ON

CHICAGO, Mar. 10.—American people are on a spending jag, staggering to the brink of hard times and national want, John D. Rockefeller, Jr., declared today.

War time economy and thrift lessons are more essential now than in war times, if national distress is to be averted, he declared. The nation must save more and produce more, Rockefeller said.

Prohibition is bringing prosperity and content, Rockefeller said.

ANGELS TO BATTLE CUBS AT ELSINORE

CHICAGO, Mar. 10.—The will of generosity of "Red" Killefer, manager of the Los Angeles Baseball club, now in training here, an exhibition game will be played Sunday, March 17th, with the famous Chicago club. The entire proceeds of the game will go to the Lynn Mort Post of the American Legion to assist it in building a clubhouse.

All of the Chamber of Commerce organizations in Southern California, as well as all of the American Legion Posts, have been requested to come to Elsinore and picnic on the shores of the lake and attend this unusual exhibition of the national sport in the afternoon. The game will be called at 2:30 sharp and parking space on the grounds will be free. Preparations are being made to accommodate thousands of visitors.

"Doc" Finley, the Angels' famous trainer, is said to have promised to give his own original version of the shivering shimmy dance just before the game is called. This in itself is predicted by the management to be well worth the admission charge.

"Red" Killefer, "Rube" Ellis, Johnny Bassler and sixteen other well known stars of the ball diamond will be seen in action at Elsinore on this date, in what promises to be one of the fastest ball games ever played in the West.

SENATOR WINS RACE TO BREAK DEADLOCK

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., Mar. 10.—State Senator Jesse Bloch, who raced half way across the country to break the senate deadlock on the federal suffrage amendment, arrived in Charleston early today and was to vote on the bill when it comes before the senate at 2 p. m. today.

Bloch's special train passed through here at 1 a. m. and raced on to its objective without a stop.

NEW YORK CABARET REPRODUCED IN BIG FILM COMING HERE

Mae Murray and David Powell in "On With the Dance"

A FAITHFUL reproduction of the Cafe Montmartre, one of the famous Broadway dance palaces, is the feature of "On With the Dance," the George Fitzmaurice Production featuring Mae Murray and David Powell, which will be shown for four days commencing tomorrow at the Temple Theatre.

The gay cabaret was built at the Paramount-Artcraft studio in New York from minute photographs.

Several hundred "extras," two jazz bands, famous professional eccentric and "shimmy" dancers, and the entire corps of waiters from a Broadway "lobster palace" were engaged for the occasion. Some of the most famous actors, actresses, and public personages of New York were present when the scenes were "shot" and are seen as diners at the various tables. This episode is declared to be one of the most brilliant and elaborate of its kind ever filmed.

Mae Murray has the role of a dancing girl, and is, of course, the center of interest. David Powell has the chief male part. The story is one of intense heart appeal and dramatic conflict. It was adapted by Ouida Bergere from a stage play.

HAS DAILY CALLS FOR PLACES IN WHICH A NEWCOMER MAY LIVE

Not a day goes by without one or more newcomers going into the Chamber of Commerce seeking information as to where there's a place that can be rented.

"There is a constant call for furnished rooms and housekeeping rooms," said Secretary Metzgar of the Chamber of Commerce, today. "It is important that those who have rooms or houses to rent list them with the Chamber of Commerce. The listing can be done by telephone, by merely calling 225."

"Co-operation of this kind is necessary if Santa Ana is to keep as many of the people who come here seeking locations as is possible."

LAY PETROFF DEFEAT TO 'OFF' DECISION

SAN FRANCISCO, Mar. 10.—Dante Petroff, the Balkan Lion, lost last night to Jack Taylor, Northwestern grappler, because of a bad decision on the first fall, the loser declared today.

Disheartened because his opponent was given credit for the first fall when his shoulders were not squarely on the mat, Petroff said he did not do his utmost thereafter and as a result lost the next fall and the match. The fall Petroff protests came after one hour and nineteen minutes and appeared to have been won by a crotch hold. A head scissor and arm lock won the next fall for Taylor in 26 minutes.

Where Possible, It Is Best for Them To Lunch at Home

The school authorities are decidedly in favor of a noon meal at home for an elemental school pupil in preference to a lunch eaten on the school grounds.

They say the home meal is better nourishment for the child than is the lunch, and it is better for the child to go home at noon than it is for him to stay on the school grounds all the noon hour.

Following is an announcement issued by J. A. Cranston, Santa Ana school superintendent:

"To parents of elementary school children:—Pupils living within a distance of six blocks from the school they attend should not take their lunches to school. In fact, wherever the distance will permit, children should take their noon meal at home. This plan is better in every way for the child."

LONDON MAIDS LABOR UNION ORGANIZED

LONDON, Mar. 10.—Domestic servants in London are being organized into a labor union. Unpleasant working conditions and the scarcity of domestics because of many girls' unwillingness to enter service is responsible for this.

Organizers of a union recently formed in Birmingham claim great success for the movement and much better working conditions for the girls. This is what the union girls there demand:

Hours of work, 6:30 a. m. to 10 p. m.

Time off, four and one half hours daily, two hours for meals.

One-half day off a week, 4 p. m. to 10 p. m.

Alternate Sundays off, 3 p. m. to 10 p. m.

Wage minimum for girls of twenty-four years, $165.

Holidays, two weeks per year, with pay and allowances for board and room where possible.

A comfortable kitchen with an easy chair and comfortable bedroom.

Miss Manicom of the Women's Industrial League, who is organizing the London branch explains:

"We want to make domestic service here as favorable for the worker as it is in Canada. After three years' service there, three English girls saved enough to take a six months' holiday in England. In Canada they had their own flat, where they could spend their week-ends. They told their friends in England that the girl servant in Canada is more respected than the business girl."

"When the parents of the lower middle-class girl look around to find the profession offering her the best prospects they decide on clerical work, not domestic service. In business her money goes on clothes and fares, and there should be some for lunches, but usually there is not enough left for more than buns and lemonade."

"Many girls drag out their lives in offices, hating their work, but enduring it because they are afraid to go into domestic service. Most servants despise their calling, but they could raise it and make it respected if they wished to do so."

MUSTEROLE—QUICK RELIEF! NO BLISTER!

It Soothes and Relieves Like a Mustard Plaster Without the Burn or Sting

Musterole is a clean, white ointment, made with the oil of mustard. It does all the work of the old-fashioned mustard plaster—does it better and does not blister. You do not have to bother with a cloth. You simply rub it on—and usually the pain is gone!

Many doctors and nurses use Musterole and recommend it to their patients. They will gladly tell you what relief it gives from sore throat, bronchitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frostbitten feet, colds of the chest (it often prevents pneumonia), 30c and 60c jars; hospital size $2.50.

Here Are Problems Worked Out Easily, Taking 25 Seconds

In the demonstration in commercial work given at the Santa Ana High School Monday afternoon the records made by Miss Helen Kubitz and Miss Amelia Scidmore were remarkable. Using modern devices they worked out eight different problems in arithmetic and had them finished in twenty-five seconds, not twenty-five minutes as reported.

They worked out the following problems and added the results on calculators in twenty-five seconds:

"Interest on $121.11 at 11 1/4 per cent for 3 days.

"7 days labor at $43.15 per month of 29 working days.

1-896ths of $225.00.

"121 board of 1 1/4 x 8-10' long at $2 per M.

"101 eggs at $3.21 per gross.

"2.142 x $6.789.

"3 1/2 x $12.341.

"$3.54 less 47 1/2, 7 1/2 and 5 per cent discount."

It takes the average mathematician from twenty-five minutes to one hour to work these problems and add, showing that the students were able to do them with modern devices 100 times as fast as by the old method.

The girls wrote from strange matter eighty-seven words on the typewriter, which is fast time for students.

ing well between rains, and there is a lot of spring bloom for them to work on. The rains give promise of late spring bloom hanging on until well into the summer.

The rainfall all over the county is now well above the totals for the whole of last season. Last season the total rainfall in Santa Ana was 8.31 inches, of which 5.93 inches had fallen up to March 10, 1919. Santa Ana's total is now 10.44 inches.

Season totals in the county vary widely, running all the way from seven inches at the hog ranch on the Irvine ranch to over fourteen inches in the northern part of the county, and to nearly fourteen and a half inches at the Jacobs ranch on the Irvine ranch.

At Los Angeles the rains, which fell in torrents over the entire state during the night, were declared to day to be of great value to ranchers, and brought relief in sections of California which had suffered from a severe drouth.

In Los Angeles .66 of an inch of rain fell within five hours last night. Storm drains in many sections of the city were incapable of caring for the flood waters.

Figures for the storm in Southern California follow: Mount Wilson .50; Pasadena .52; Pomona .50; Redlands .71; Riverside .56; Santa Barbara .55; San Bernardino .58; San Diego .58.

BANKS OPEN BITTERNESS ON STORE ON EAST FOURTH AGAIN ENTERED

TOMBSTONE, Ariz., Mar. 10.—In a little red brick courthouse in the middle of the Arizona desert, evidence is being taken in one of the great court battles of the present-day industrial struggle.

From the windows of the courthouse, looking out across Tough Nut street, the dreary vista takes in a view of Mexico, and closer up one sees abandoned but still yawning shafts of the copper mines. The steady drone of court procedure, like the monotony of the view, is broken only occasionally by flashes of interest.

But underneath the monotony lies all the bitterness engendered by one of the historical episodes of class struggle—done on a gigantic scale, as only the West can do it.

After five weeks of bickering, a jury was completed for the trial of the so-called Bisbee deportation and kidnapping case.

Gathered into the accusation of kidnapping are a total of 211 mine owners, public officers and business and professional men of Bisbee, Warren, Lowell and Douglas. Officials of the Copper Queen, Calumet-Arizona, and the powerful Phelps-Dodge Company of New York are involved.

Charge 1188 Deported They are charged with having lured 1188 striking miners and their sympathizers into box cars and shipping them to Hermanas, N. M. From this place they were taken to Columbus, N. M., and cared for by the United States army.

Daybreak on July 12, 1917, saw the deportations. This trial picks the industrial struggle up out of the big centers of population and moves it bodily to the frontier, setting it down again in a land of cowboys, miners and men in the rough.

Forty years ago Tombstone was the queen city of the Southwest. Twenty thousand persons lived beneath her roofs. Her dance halls flashed with frontier beauties. Street after street were lined with gambling tables, groaning under a cold "one hundred thou," which came from the scores of mines that freckle the hillsides, but are now abandoned.

But today there is nothing left but a romantic, colorful and, perhaps, pathetic vista of adobe ruins—Tombstone—less than 2,000 people. The town is without electric lights, gas or any other conveniences of modern times. Burros bray in Tough Nut street, seemingly to mock the crows that saw a welcome first to a luxurious automobile driving up perhaps with a wealthy defendant, and then to a cowboy, who rides his pony to the courthouse and leaves it to the lariat coiled on the saddle.

Jury Slain The unwritten law of the West has stalked into the case already with the shooting of a juror by a neighbor. The neighbor said his victim had left open a gate on his cattle range. If this is proved it will go far to justify the shooting. One man's mind has snapped and he has killed himself. His make-up could not stand the change when he was brought from the heavy silence of the desert to the intense courtroom.

Through five long weeks of jury picking, these points have worked to the surface: Harry E. Wooten, prosperous hardware man, the first defendant to be tried, will face a jury of prospectors from the mountains, farmers struggling to eke out an existence from parched homesteads, and cowboys, fresh from the burning sun and wind of the desert range. Wooten will be defended by a staff of lawyers from metropolitan courts, brought here at a cost written in six figures. They are adroit, suave and eloquent. They have learned law through many hard battles.

Wooten will be prosecuted by men who might have stepped out of a western novel. A. A. Worsley, a big man with long, white hair, is the special prosecutor. He is a desert philosopher, who speaks in homely epigrams and figures of speech dealing with water holes and stolen cattle.

Prosecutor Has Drawl Bob French, tall, frock-coated, a North Carolinian, whose drawl brings thoughts of a southern colonel, is the county prosecutor.

Assisting them are George Roark, who all his life has been a frontiersman, and Joe Hansen, young, hard working idealist. On the bench sits Judge Sam Patton, a small man, whose mouth is hidden beneath a heavy moustache. He is sharp-eyed and quiet. With him patriotism and love of country are almost a fetish. His attitude, often expressed from the bench, has caused the defense to intensify its efforts to inject the issue of Americanism as against alleged revolutionary doctrines of the I. W. W.

The defense will contend that the Bisbee strikers were starting an incipient revolution to cut off the copper supply necessary for a successful prosecution of the war. The prosecution, on the other hand, has announced no I. W. W. will go on the witness stand and no man will be prosecuted for putting an I. W. W. aboard the "deportation special."

The fact that depositions have been taken in Chicago, Butte, New York, Seattle and at almost every center of industrial conflict indicates the wide ramifications of the case.

Outstanding Point "The outstanding point in this trial," said one man, whose neutral position in the case prevents use of his name, "is that until the case is tried and the people of the country are told the whole story of the deportations, what happened at Bisbee will be an ugly ulcer on the American industrial situation."

So, out in the middle of the desert, where men often shoot first and go to court afterwards, and where cattle and hides and guns are respected second only to women, a history-making case is on its way to a decision.

For your health eat Dragon Whole Wheat Bread.

Last night for the fourth time, the Federal Grocery Store and the Anaheim Beef & Provision Co. market at 111 East Fourth street was entered by a burglar.

This time the thief got away with some canned fruit, between 100 and 125 cigars, a lot of cigarettes, a can of Crisco, some canned milk, some jellies, jams, apples and oranges, and nobody knows how much more in groceries.

From the market side of the room, two slabs of bacon and an 11-pound ham are missing.

The thief pried an entrance through the iron fence that is drawn across the front of the store each night. The same method was used twice to enter the Federal Grocery Store at Fourth and Ross and four times at the store at 111 East Fourth. This time, however, the fence was mutilated more than usual. It looks as though a crowbar was used. Generally, all that is necessary for a man to gain entrance is to take one bar with his hands, put his foot against another bar and give a kick, and the entrance is easy. This time, a bigger entrance seemed to be desired, possibly to make room for passing out a gunny sack filled with loot.

There are two or three interesting angles to the situation that are being discussed today. One angle was brought up by Manager Dailey of the Federal Groceries Corporation, who can't see why these burglaries should continue and the police not stop it. He thinks that there must be inadequate or inefficient patrolling in Santa Ana. Dailey said that his company is insured for all losses by burglaries.

City Marshal Jennings states that the fences are very flimsy, and that the police department on a number of occasions has protested to the Federal people against their continuance.

"There is only one way to protect a place like that," idlerjennigan, "and that is for a man to stand in front of the place all of the time. No city would expect any police department to devote one man's time to watching a store that ought to make itself safe against casual burglary. The remainder of East Fourth, as well as East Fifth and East Third, are the portions of the city that telephone into the city hall, and an officer at night are entitled to some of the services of the patrolman assigned to the eastern part of the business section at night."

"We have been working on these burglaries, and it is quite likely that we have gathered a good deal more information about them than Manager Dailey thinks we have, though as yet we have not been fortunate enough to catch the burglars in the act."

Recently a request was made of the City Trustees that two additional patrolmen be placed on duty at night.

Deaver's Smile On Perkins' Poster Led to End of Mystery

It was Lieut. Deaver's smile, fixed in the memory of the former German officer who knew him when he was in a German hospital, that led to his identification.

The German recognized the France and Germany. One of smile when he saw it pictured on a poster.

This information came today to A. J. Perkins of 1102 French street from Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Deaver of Riverside, parents of the lieutenant, who, according to word from the German officer, died in Dec. 1918.

In a search to locate Lieut. Deaver, Perkins sent out thousands of posters. These were put up in hospitals all over the country, and were posted in France and Germany. One of these posters was seen in San Francisco by the German, and he immediately telegraphed to Deaver's parents.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LEADER IS TO TALK HERE

W. C. Pearce, of Chicago, one of the outstanding Sunday school leaders of the world, is in Southern California just now and is to speak in Santa Ana on March 14.

Pearce has been associated with Marion Lawrence in the International Sunday School Association for a number of years as adult division superintendent, and is now superintendent of the field department of that great organization. Orange county is to have two addresses by Pearce on Sunday, March 14, at the First Methodist Episcopal church, Santa Ana, at 2 p. m. and the evening service.

Besides Pearce the following state and denominational leaders will have part in the rally program at 2 p. m.: Rev. Hugh C. Gibson, state secretary; Mrs. Pearl V. Gentry, state superintendent children's division; Miss Flora Geiselman, of Alhambra; Rev. R. E. Stanton, state superintendent adult division; Rev. J. D. Springfield, director of religious education, Southern California Baptist convention; and Rev. Paul G. Stevens, Sunday school missionary of the Los Angeles Presbytery.

A county-wide announcement is made of this event that all interested in Bible school work may take this opportunity to gain further knowledge of this important department of church work.

STATE UNIVERSITY TO FATHER MUSIC EVENTS

California towns, no matter how remote from the centers of population, may secure the best music of the Pacific Coast through the University of California Extension Division, according to Prof. Leon J. Richardson, director of the division.

A list of the leading instrumentalists, vocalists and lecturers on musical topics in San Francisco and bay cities has just been compiled by the Extension Division, Director Richardson stated. These musicians will respond to calls from clubs, schools, and other organizations through the State University.

Concerts are generally arranged so that a vocalist and a pianist can entertain for the evening. Other pairs of instrumentalists may be secured. A slight charge to cover expenses is made by the University Extension Division, Prof. Richardson stated, but it is sufficiently reasonable to permit even the humblest towns and villages of the state to hear the University's musicians.

LEAGUE ADOPTS NEW CLUB AT LOS BANOS

league when Miss Daniel explained it to her. At the close of the Los Banos flu vacation, the girls held a meeting and organized. Uniform dress was also adopted there that day.

All the good advice and help the Santa Ana League can give this newly-made organization will be forwarded it, and the girls hope to get a great deal of pleasure out of it.

Self-governing, uniform dress, an address by Mrs. Bromley, wife of the evangelist, and the acceptance of a sisterhood for the Girls' League of Los Banos High School were features of the meeting of the Girls' League of Santa Ana High School yesterday.

The meeting was the first held since the influenza epidemic put a stop to the meetings. Self-government was the chief topic of discussion and the president, Miss Grace Dickey, discussed the league's attitude in the matter.

"Think seriously of this, and it will work out," said she. "We are going to be put on the map. This is a big school now, so why act like a small one? It is up to the girls to make a success of this as the girls are in the majority in the school."

The middy is said to become a part of self control. The girls should be put on their honor, in this as in any other rule of the school. Mrs. Bromley, with the Bromley meetings at the Spurgeon Memorial Church, expressed her admiration of the League.

"It takes me back to my girlhood," she said, "to see so many bright girls faces about me."

"The uniform dress is a fine thing, for I have visited many big colleges where a uniform is enforced. If the girls' league keeps this up it will become better known, and I am sure you don't want to be behind in anything."

Mrs. Bromley was well pleased with the progress the girls are making. "For," said she, "you have so many fine opportunities and more is expected of the girl of today than ever before."

During the meeting Miss Bernice Bull upbraided the girls who were not in the uniform. "Anything I hate is a pretense," she said. "I think too much of the Girls' League to let this go on as it has, and we had better vote it down if we are going to go on like this."

Miss Bull asked the league to write parodies to popular songs and hand them to her. These will be used at the coming Forensic contest.

Music by the band was an enjoyable feature of the program. The chorus of "Somewhere a Voice is Calling," was sung by the audience. A violin solo by Mike Carrillo, accompanied by Miss Elizabeth Parslow on the piano, received much applause.

The league voted to adopt the girls' league of a small high school, situated in the center of the state, in Los Banos, a small town. The students are mostly Portuguese. One of the teachers there became interested in the formation of a

IS TO ASSESS LANDS OF GOVERNMENT FILING

SAN BERNARDINO, Mar. 10.—Two hundred thousand acres of land held by 1144 people by government filings will be placed on the assessment rolls of the county this year by Assessor E. G. Gilbert, according to announcement just made. The holders of this land have possessory rights and the majority of them are believed to be holding it simply as a speculation to sell relinquishments. Assessments will run from $2.50 to $3 per acre, in all probability. Form letters will be sent to the holders of these lands, most of them living in Los Angeles notifying them of the law and the intention to assess the land. Possessory rights in unpatented mining claims have been assessed for some years.

MAY TRY TO TEST SIGNALS FROM MARS

LONDON, Mar. 10.—Organized tests of the mysterious signals supposed to come from some other planet will be made toward the end of April when Mars reaches the nearest point to the earth. Godfrey Isaac, director of the Marconi organization, announced. All Marconi stations will be instructed to watch out for mysterious messages, he said, adding:

"We will try first to discover whether the sounds are picked up in various parts of the world in the same instant, because if so the theory that they are definite messages from another planet will be enormously strengthened."

WELCOMES TREATY AS ISSUE IN CAMPAIGN

ST. PAUL, Minn., Mar. 10.—Senator Hiram Johnson in a statement given out here declared he "welcomed" the action of President Wilson "in forcing the treaty of peace and covenant of the League of Nations into the 1920 campaign."

"President Wilson accentuated and emphasized what was already a fact," said the California Senator, who has been making speeches in Minnesota as candidate for Republican Presidential nomination. "For many months the League of Nations as presented by him has been an issue, although our pussyfooting friends have shivered at the thought."

JOHNSON, THE LEAGUE AND HOOVER

The blacker it looks for the League the brighter it looks for Johnson. Thus the law of compensation is on the job for the many (including the Register) who are strong for both Johnson and the League.

Certainly the defeat of the League would strengthen Johnson with people who are opposed to the League, while it would not weaken him much, if any, with pro-League people. That has been demonstrated here at home, where many of Johnson's strongest and most enthusiastic supporters in his presidential candidacy and his past gubernatorial and senatorial candidacies as well, are not in accord with his views on the League.

In a general way it seems to be the nature of the opposition to the League to be bitter—they're all "bitter-enders," so to speak,—while the pro-League people seem to have no quarrel with those who do not think and feel and see as they do in this respect.

As for the fight in this state between Johnson and Hoover—it's all over but the shouting. Hoover will wake up some of these fine spring mornings and wonder how he could ever have even dreamed of taking the California delegation away from Johnson. He'll be quoting the epitaph the little dying boy of humorous philosophical turn of mind who asked to have placed on the tomb stone at his untimely grave: "What I'm done for What was I ever begun for?"

GOOD SEED FOR YOUNG GARDENERS

If children are to be encouraged in gardening they should be provided with good seed, proved by testing.

Experienced farmers and market gardeners discovered long since that many of their failures were directly traceable to planting seed of poor quality; as a result the business of testing seeds has been highly developed for their benefit.

At least one educational body has realized that to the amateur gardener the disappointment of not reaping fairly where he has sown is as great as to his more experienced elder, and perhaps greater. He has not the schooling in disappointment to tide him over failure.

In order that the children in that particular school district may have the advantages of tested seeds, an experienced tester has been installed as part of the school gardening faculty, and she experiments with all brands of seeds offered for sale to the school authorities. No seed which does not offer a good maturity percentage is accepted.

This may seem like an unwarranted expense; but on the success of his early efforts at gardening will depend much of the child's mature interest in one of the highest and most necessary of the industries. The economic value of a body of young people with a live interest in agriculture should not be overlooked. Any means to such an end is deserving of consideration.

NOTHING TO BOAST OF

The Department of Justice boasts that it forced 21,000,000 eggs out of cold storage early in the winter. That was one egg for each five inhabitants of the United States. That number of eggs would provide breakfast for the United States for one morning, if some of the people were willing to go without their usual egg. Now, how much does Mr. Palmer think he cut the price of eggs by the accomplishment for which he claims credit? The price of eggs did not come down until the hens began their spring laying.

KICK THE TURKS OUT

The righteous purposes of the war are not forgotten, though they have been somewhat obscured in recent months of political and diplomatic manoeuvring. England is suddenly aflame over the outrageous Turkish settlement framed up by the British and French premiers, which leaves the Sultan master of Constantinople and the Turks able still to dominate over millions of Christians.

To arguments that Great Britain must consider her Mohammedan population, the people retort that Great Britain must consider her Christian population. Lloyd George is reminded of his own scathing denials, and his pledges that they should be expelled from Europe. British newspapers are full of indignant editorials and advertisements.

nunciation of the Turks during the war. Posters are everywhere, declaring that to leave the Turks in Constantinople is not only to let wickedness go unpunished, but to "run the risk of another Armageddon."

This protest comes fittingly from the nation that lost so heavily at Gallipoli and finally crushed the power of the Turk and promised liberation to all the nations suffering under Moslem despotism. It comes with special fitness now, when the brutal Turks, emboldened by this diplomatic victory at Paris, are once more burning, pillaging and massacring.

Fortunately for American self-respect, this country is beginning to echo the protest. There was never any question, among Americans, during the war and during the peace conference, that the Turks were to be driven back to their native Asia, leaving Europe free from their domination and Constantinople once more in worthy hands. It is hardly credited, yet, that the allied council in Paris, acting without American participation, has compromised with the Turks.

The Episcopal clergymen of Massachusetts have just united in a protest. There will soon be a chorus of protest from American churches in general, and likewise, unless the American people have so soon forgotten their war ideals, a protest from the rest of the nation. Secret diplomacy in Paris must not get away with a settlement like this, unjust and dangerous to the world's peace. Kick the Turks out, and let Constantinople be made a free city, under the League of Nations.

To Reduce Taxes

San Francisco Chronicle.—Former Secretary McAdoo, who says he is not a candidate for the presidency, proposes that Congress authorize a new bond issue to pay floating debts and raise the interest which the nations indebted to us should pay but do not wish to. It is probably a wise thing for Mr. McAdoo to keep out of the presidential race if that is his platform. It would not fire the popular heart.

What the people want is that the nations which have borrowed of us pay their own interest. If any are bankrupt, let them confess bankruptcy, call a creditors' meeting and see what can be done about it. Great Britain, at any rate, is not bankrupt. The other day Premier Lloyd George congratulated Parliament in having as a result of the war added 800,000 square miles, more or less, to the British empire. The British empire has today far more undeveloped resources than remain to us, and it is from undeveloped resources that debt can be quickest paid. The greater part of the British debt is internal and is subject to taxation. Her people are lending money where it is likely to induce trade. Recent treasury statements indicate that the nation will be on easy street by the end of another year. For us to "fund" the interest due to us means that our taxpayers must dig up the money which Great Britain owes in order that her people may lend money to her good security—where it will enable that country to compete more effectively with us. And, as for France, all evidence is to the effect that never before were the French people outside the devastated zone so prosperous or spending money so freely as now.

As to issuing bonds to pay our floating debt, we understand that to mean incurring more bonded debt to pay off the obligations which we are now paying with certificates of indebtedness in anticipation of taxes.

In a well-managed private business that might be desirable, but in the case of our National Government, no. Our one faint hope of financial salvation is to keep the nose of the United States Treasury pressed hard against the grindstone. Were the pressure of the floating debt removed, the taxpayers' money would fly as it never flew before.

STEPS ARE TAKEN TO PROTECT U. S. GROWERS

In order to prevent the entrance of a number of plant diseases and injurious insects from the Orient, the United States Department of Agriculture proposes to prohibit the importation of fruit stocks, cuttings, scions and buds from Asia, Japan, the Philippine Islands, and Oceania. The diseases and insects that the department seeks to exclude by the quarantine include Japanese apple cankers, blister blight, and rusts, the oriental fruit moth, the pear fruit borer, and the apple moth.

DEAD SINGER'S SON SEEKS VOICE RECORD

CHICAGO, Ill., March 10.—Is there by any chance an old phonograph record of Jesse Bartlett Davis singing "Oh Promise Me" or "Genevieve" tucked away in some American home? Will J. Davis, son of the famous contralto of a generation ago, is searching for it. His mother was one of the first American singers to make phonograph records. They were imperfect and squeaked and scratched, but it was the voice of his mother. For years he has treasured the records. They were destroyed recently by fire. "We used to sit by the fire at night and play our old records," said Davis today. It was almost like having mother with us. Now they are gone. They are out of date now and the company has destroyed the master records, but somewhere there may be some of my mother's songs for the records.

WOMAN, 70, TO MAKE LONG JOURNEY ALONE

KANSAS CITY, Mo. Mar. 10.—Age, it would seem now, is no barrier to long distance travel. Application has been made here by Mrs. Bertha D. Vanorden, seventy, for a passport to Brazil and she is planning to make the trip alone. Settlement of an estate left by a son who died recently at Sao Paulo, Brazil, is the aged woman's reason for making the long journey.

Gerard for President

Probably the most prominent and promising candidate today for the Democratic presidential nomination is James W. Gerard. Therefore, for the information of Register readers, the following paragraphs, sent out by his headquarters at Des Moines, Iowa, are prominently printed. They come in the form of quotations from speeches and statements by Mr. Gerard, designated by the publicity department as "Gerard Gems":

"The 1920 issue of 'I do not believe in curia-alls or catch phrases. A paramount issue should be based on a paramount need. To my mind, the paramount need is the ending of government extravagance and the reduction of taxes. Normal, sane business conditions should be restored, our foreign trade encouraged and American citizens protected in all countries. The government should give up much of the private business it now carries on and should confine its business activities to devising means for cutting out the middleman, thus giving the farmer more for his products which will cost the consumer less."

"As for the treaty and the League, this country demands that those in Washington of all parties stop their jabbering and come to an agreement, so that the world can have peace and we can turn to our domestic problems. They cannot agree, then Bryan's treaties should be adopted by all countries. They furnish a practical basis for ending wars."

The League of Nations
"I have been for the League without change, but a great danger threatens Europe. Without peace the red flag will again be seen in the old capitals of the central empires—a fire kindled that may spread over the earth. Our country senses this—it is sick of talk. It demands that both sides get together that a compromise be made and peace given to the world. After all, the reservations are in favor of America, and if the other powers accept, no harm can come to us by adopting them."

The Trade Unions
"Men cannot be made to work by threatening them with jail or by governing the country industrially by injunction. The trade unions have come to stay. You cannot expect the workers to abandon the unions, but the moment the unions or any other organizations seek to usurp the functions of the government or to put themselves above the government, they must be put down with a hand of steel."

"The solution, I am confident, will come in partnership—the admission of the workers to a share in the profits and management."

SECRET GARDENS
(Contributed to the Register by Henrietta Jewett Keith, 1906 N. Main St., Santa Ana.)

Behind that brave, unscalable facade
That each soul fronts the world with, so to guard
Its inner house of individual life
Apart, inviolate, from the outer strife—
Beyond that screening wall, what flowers fair
Grow in the secret gardens tended there,
The crowd that surges by, all unaware.

From journeyings across gulfs and arid plains
Of life's necessities, its sordid gains,
We come, each, pilgrim to some inner shrine,
Warming our shivering souls by fires divine,
Turning from garish lights of petty days
To that strange moon of joy whose mystic rays
Flood with delight our secret garden ways.

Pilgrims of silence on unceasing quest
For the fair vision each calls to his breast
And faint would clasp: a vision so divine
It claims eternal passion; to whose shrine
In those dim secret gardens of the soul
We go on pilgrimages sweet to thole.

FINDS RATS AND NOT GIRL STOLE DIAMOND

GLENWOOD, Del., March 10.—Several years ago a valuable diamond ring owned by Mrs. Purdy Ingram, who lives near here, disappeared after she had laid it down to wash her hands, and the other day workmen tearing out the old kitchen to build a new one found it where the rats had probably dragged it between the walls.

Following the loss of the ring, Mrs. Ingram suspected a negro girl who was working for her, and immediately discharged her, although she could not get a confession from her. When the carpenters tore out the old wall they found a rat's nest, and in it the ring.

Mrs. Ingram was delighted to get her ring back and is searching for the address of the colored girl so that she can send her a present for her unjust suspicions.

MANY IN ALMSHOUSE DIE OF INFLUENZA

BOSTON, March 10.—Influenza has caused many deaths among inmates of the city almshouse and hospital on Long Island that morgue and burial facilities have been exhausted and bodies in coffins are lying on the ground. Dr. Charles E. Donlan, superintendent of the institution, said that out of 110 inmates under treatment 40 had died of the disease in the past two weeks.

The storm conditions limited burials, the morgue soon filled and it was necessary to stack coffins outside. Twenty-five of the bodies have been shipped for burial by relatives. Prisoners from the House of Correction at Deer Island were ordered today to go to Long Island and dig graves in which to bury the other dead.

lives to give liberty to the world, and in the great reunciation they received the gift of life eternal. Is it only their wounds, their ebbing life, their death and burial that we wish to remember? Or is it their loyalty to liberty and justice, their faith in God and in their fellow-men, their dedication of themselves in Christlike self-sacrifice for another land than theirs and for a people that were no kin to them? Every town from which heroes of freedom have gone forth never to return should put up a stone, and upon it engrave their names and some simple inscription bearing witness to their service and their sacrifice.

All you had hoped for all you had you gave
To save mankind—yourselves you scorned to have.

Individual graves of individual soldiers will by the next generation be forgotten; but the monuments to the dead witnessing in every town to the honor in which they are held by their fellow-citizens would outlast many generations. Individual graves where the bodies of the dead lie moldering into common dust are emblems of paganism; but a community stone made as enduring as human skill can make it would be an honor to their unquenchable spirit and a witness to our faith in their undying life.

Lest We Forget

From the Outlook
We give the following letter a place in our editorial pages because it expresses so effectively a message to fathers and mothers that we desire to make it our own message:

As I have read recently of the many bodies which may be brought back to this side, and of the permission which the French government has given to move twenty thousand, the ghastliness of it grows on me. I have watched the papers and magazines in eager hope that some one of influence would try to change the mistaken conception of death which so many who have lost their boys in the war seem to have.

I was a canteen worker at Romagne, where the Argonne cemetery is located, during those days when a thousand bodies a day were being brought in from isolated graves and small cemeteries all over the Meuse-Argonne front. Many of the bodies were badly decomposed and some, of course, were mutilated at the time of death. There were ten thousand American soldiers who worked faithfully in locating those graves through fields and in the Argonne where the underbrush was thick and deep, and in bringing in the bodies for reburial. The heat of those June days, the long hours on the road during transportation, the inspecting of the bodies and the reburial, which often lasted well into the night, took heroism as great and real, I believe, as during the war—for there was no adventure and conquest in that work. And they left our dead buried in a beautiful cemetery—a cemetery which lies on a gradually sloping hill. Thousands of straight, straight rows of white crosses follow up the hill and disappear over its crest. Why can't we honor those dead bodies by letting them remain together in that beautiful spot in the heart of the American battlefield? Why should they be dug up, loaded into a box car, packed into the steerage of an ocean liner, and inspected in their present state when they reach this side? For how can such procedure bring comfort to any parent or friend?

I wish every one might remember that, wherever they lie, they are in God's keeping. Roosevelt set a wonderful example by leaving Quentin's body in France, but the people in our country need you and other of his friends to repeat the same message which that act expressed.

Is there no better way of keeping alive the sacred memory of our soldier boys than by freighting the moldering bodies to America and following the procession of our living soldiers with a gruesome procession of our coffin dead? Wholly righteous is the desire to do them honor, to keep alive their memories, to hand down to future generations their names and some memorial of their services. Our fathers laid down their lives to win liberty for America; their sons laid down their

Surprise Miscellaneous Shower
Mrs. Willard Swarthout was hostess at a delightful miscellaneous shower given last evening in honor of Miss Alpha Burry, who is soon to become the bride of Leslie Wright.

The affair was a complete surprise to Miss Burry, who came to spend a quiet evening with Mrs. Swarthout and found the guests waiting.

The evening passed pleasantly with games and music and dainty refreshments of ice cream, cake and punch were served after the packages were all unwrapped and admired. The basket of gifts consisted largely of pyrex, handpainted china and cut glass.

Those present beside the hostess and honoree, were Mrs. Anthony Adams, and Mrs. Raymond Marsile; Misses Anna Barrett, Lillie Chaffee, Cissy Pritchett, Gladys Cook, Myrtle Huff, Bertha Miller, Millie Keins and Mildred Swarthout. Invited guests who could not attend but who sent gifts were Misses Flossie Morrison, Lulu McDonnell, Nellie Holloway and Clara and Ruth Steele.

Royal Neighbors Meet
The Royal Neighbors held their regular meeting in M. W. A. Hall last evening at which considerable business was transacted. The Grade Neighbor, Anna Johnson, reported meeting with delegates in Los Angeles to arrange for the District Convention, which will be held early in May in Fullerton instead of Brea, which was the place first decided upon.

After the business was finished the meeting adjourned and a social hour was enjoyed during which the committee served ice cream and cake.

Philathea Class Meeting
The Philathea Class of the First Baptist church held its monthly business and social meeting at the home of Miss Effie White, last evening.

After the business session, the meeting was turned over to the entertainment committee.

Quite an interesting program was arranged. Each girl was handed a paper and pencil and told to write a description of her ideal husband and many were the comical, as well as sensible descriptions. On another slip of paper they were told to tell how to go about getting this ideal husband. Some answers were very clever, one especially, written in poetry in just a short time by one of the girls—being pronounced the best. It was entitled "The Real Thing," and read as follows:

One who gets up in the morning
And starts the muck,
And hustles the baby
Who begins to fuss,
And feeds the chickens
And sweeps the floor,
Always carefully closes the door,
And has red hair with sunny curls
And never, never looks at the girls,
One who has a smile each morning
For me,
And is always as sweet as sweet can be.

All of these answers produced very much mirth, especially when each put their hands in a box and drew out a picture supposed to fit this ideal husband whom they had written about.

After the social hour refreshments consisting of chocolate and various kinds of wafers, were served.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Powers on South Broadway.

Golden Wedding Anniversary
About sixty guests and relatives of Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Alsbach gathered at their home on Grand avenue Monday afternoon to help them celebrate their golden wedding anniversary.

Streamers of golden yellow draped from the chandeliers to the corners of the room and two beautiful bouquets of yellow flowers gave a very rich tone to the dining room decorations, while a basket of roses graced the center table in the living room.

Six golden yellow cakes and ice cream were served as refreshments, the serving being done by the only three grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. Alsbach, Adella Mae Bell, Margaret Emma Bell and Master Leroy Bell, children of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Bell of Riverside.

Mrs. Alsbach, the "bride," wore a most becoming dress of taupe crepe meteor and made a charming picture on her golden wedding day.

The afternoon was happily spent in jolly social conversation and pleasant reminiscences, the gayety extending far into the evening, at the close of which the guests departed, wishing Mr. and Mrs. Alsbach many more happy years together.

Beautiful gifts, including china, cut-glass and a gold creamer and sugar bowl, were presented to the happy couple.

Mr. Alsbach, who is a veteran of the Civil war, was born in Manchester, Ohio, in 1843. Mrs. Alsbach, a native of Louisville, Pa., and her birth year, 1848. They were married in Louisville, Penn., March 8, 1870. After living in several eastern states, Mr. and Mrs. Alsbach came from Indiana to Santa Ana in May of 1903.

Rickey, and her daughter, Miss Olive Rickey, of Tulsa, Okla.; Mrs. Rickey, who celebrated her own golden wedding anniversary a year ago last December, came to Santa Ana for the express purpose of attending that of her brother, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Bell and children of Riverside, and Miss Miller of Canada, were other out-of-town guests. The remainder of the guests were of this city.

Delightful Musical Program
The regular monthly meeting of the music section of the Ebell Society was held Monday afternoon, March 8, in the music room of the high school, with Mrs. Winbigger presiding and Miss Leonora Tompkins in charge of the program.

The subject for the afternoon was "The American Orchestra," which was ably presented by Miss Tompkins in a very interesting paper.

A trio composed of Milton Foster, violin; Edward Burns, cello, and Miss Tompkins, piano, rendered delightfully the following orchestral numbers: "Romance" (Mathews), "At Dawning" (Cadmian), "By the Waters of Minnetonka" (Leuraunce), Mrs. East, who has but recently come to this city and who is being welcomed to Santa Ana's musical circles, pleased everyone with her artistic rendition of "The Temple Bells" (Finden), "The Quest" (Eleanor Smith) and "An Indian Love Song" (De Koven).

Mrs. Slabaugh also sang three beautiful songs, "Bird of the Wilderness" (Horsman), "I Bring You Colored Toys" and "The Sleep That Flits in Baby's Eyes" (Carpenter).

Those who attended the meeting felt well repaid and some new names were added to the roll.

Baptist Men's Club Supper
The Men's Club of the Baptist church enjoyed one of its excellent suppers and general good times last evening at the church.

Rev. J. N. Hoover, of Lindsay, addressed the club on the subject of "Christian Americanization." He gave a stirring address in which he set forth the true patriotism that is best exemplified by unselfish devotion to true Christian principles in upholding the national constitution and government.

The entertainment committee has arranged to have the Rev. Otto Russell give the address at the April meeting.

The numbers by the orchestra were greatly enjoyed and all present hope that this orchestra may be secured again.

Delta Alpha Meeting
Last evening the members of the Delta Alpha class of the First Methodist Sunday school were entertained by the Misses Lena and Lillie Confer at their home, 709 East Fifth Street.

A short business session was presided over by Miss Bertha Briney, vice-president of the class, after which most of the evening was spent happily at fancy work and social chat. "Nuts to crack" containing fortunes, which proved very interesting, were given each one.

Miss Minnie Wild and Miss Lillie Confer entertained the company with piano selection.

Dainty refreshments of ice-cream and cakes were served by the hostesses.

DEPARTMENT MANAGERS SALE NOTICE

Just a word of explanation. The few days that this, our first annual dept. manager's sale, has been in progress we have had many of our customers ask us the question: How can you sell seasonal and desirable merchandise at such low prices when every single commodity is so high? The answer is this—that days, weeks and months of preparation for just such events as this, together with our close affiliation with the New York Market, and our great purchasing power through our big Redlands store, enables us to buy in such quantities and at such terms that the benefit to our customers is very remarkable. The below items will more than explain our story:

CUTICURA HEALS SMALL BLISTERS

On Hands, Arms, and Face,
Sore and Red. Lost Rest.

"I had a very bad breaking out on my hands, arms, and face, and a few spots on my body. Small blisters formed much like blisters from a burn, and they became very sore and red when scratched, and caused loss of sleep. It was hard to do my regular work as water seemed to irritate me. This eruption lasted six weeks or more before I used Cuticura Soap and Ointment, and I used two cakes of Cuticura Soap with one box of Cuticura Ointment when I was entirely healed." (Signed) Miss J. Mathews, Box 343, Plains, Mont., Aug. 25, 1919.

Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Tablets are ideal for every-day toilet uses. Sample Book Free by Mail. Address: "Cuticura," Laboratories, Dept. 1, Malden, Mass. Sold everywhere. Soap 25c, Ointment 15c and 50c. Tablets 25c. Cuticura Soap shaves without soap.

Wintersburg-Smeltzer

WINTERSBURG AND SMELTZER, Mar. 10.—A merry party motored up to Mt. Baldy Sunday and spent a most delightful day. The machines were left within two miles of the summit and from there the crowd hiked up to the snow line, which lacked but little of being at the mountain's top. Here a weenie bake in the snow was enjoyed, the bonfire proving quite acceptable while lunch was being eaten. After the crowd had enjoyed snow-balling to the limit, the trip homeward began with each member of the picnic party declaring the day to have been a perfect one. The outing was planned by Mrs. Emil Kettler and included twenty-one, there being, beside Mr. and Mrs. Kettler and two children, John and Ruthie, Mr. and Mrs. John Kettler and daughter, Mary; Mr. and Mrs. Emil Kettler, Sr., of Los Angeles and their daughter, Miss Anna; Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kettler, Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Pyle, the former's nephew, Glenn Pyle, of the U.S.S. Texas; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Keseman and daughter, Miss Nora, of Santa Ana; Frank Pickle, of Santa Ana, and Mr. and Mrs. Ward Lindsey of Hollywood.

R. L. Draper arrived home Sunday from the North, where he spent a few days at his ranch near Orland, Cal. Draper left here the preceding Tuesday, making the trip by train.

Mrs. C. H. Maddux, who is convalescing from influenza, was not so well Saturday and Sunday but her condition seemed quite favorable Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Mallette have just received a photograph of their son, Ralph Mallette, his wife and 4-month-old babe whom they have never seen. Mallette, who is in the navy, has not been home since soon after joining and since that time married in Seattle, where his wife remains with her mother.

Late letters received from Mr. and Mrs. Claude Graham and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Graham by relatives here tell of home life on their island near Stockton. Both couples are delighted with the prospects there, the men are getting along nicely with their ranching and both families are enjoying the best of health.

Mrs. Mary E. Clemens, daughter, Miss Ina and son, Reuben Clemens, were entertained Tuesday evening at dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Tell, of near Los Patos.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Hall of Los Angeles came Sunday to the home of Mrs. Hall's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Bradbury. Mr. Hall returned home Monday morning and Mrs. Hall and the baby are remaining for a longer visit with relatives.

Miss Grace Gano of Fullerton is a guest for several days at the home of her grandmother, Mrs. Mary E. Clemens. The Gano family, all of whom have had the influenza, are now recovering nicely.

C. N. Davis and son, Ellis Davis, and wife, were here from El Monte Sunday spending a while at the home place and also visiting Mr. and Mrs. Russell Hall. Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Davis will move to the C. N. Davis home Saturday of this week and will remain until Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Davis are ready to occupy it, which will probably be in September. Mrs. Davis is now in the East. She made the trip about two months ago to take a little child that was in her care back to its grandmother in Oklahoma. The baby's mother, an old friend of Mrs. Davis, died at El Monte the first of the year and Mr. and Mrs. Davis wished to adopt it but the father did not wish to give it up, then the grandmother decided to care for it, so it will remain with her. As Mrs. Davis' people reside in Oklahoma, she took this chance to make them a visit, so will remain till September, and upon her return the family will move here.

C. E. Pratt is again bedfast, having relapsed Saturday. Since his recent attack of influenza Mr. Pratt had not regained his strength and on Saturday went to Los Angeles to consult a specialist, who pronounced his trouble "flu lungs," which he guaranteed to cure. The extra trip that day proved beyond Mr. Pratt's strength and he took his bed again upon returning home.

Mr. and Mrs. Adam Winger of Lamanda Park, and the latter's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Smith, here guests here Saturday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Sprinkle. Mr. and Mrs. Smith are tourists here for the winter, their home being in Northeastern Iowa. They have been located in Long Beach at the Winger home for the month preceding the time of their return to the East.

Frank Clark, Mrs. George Gerhart's nephew, who has been with them since his return from overseas army service, expects to leave the latter part of this week on a business trip to Kentucky. Upon his return, Mr. Clark expects to locate in Los Angeles. While here he has been installing an electric light plant at the Gerhart home.

Chas. Graham was the recipient Monday evening of a most complete surprise which was planned and carried out by Mrs. Graham in honor of her husband's birthday anniversary. The crowd gathered at the L. E. Berry home and went in on Mr. Graham together. Games were kept moving in a lively manner throughout the evening under the direction of the sister and sister-in-laws of the honoree, Miss Ethel Graham and Misses Mary and Florete Crane. Then, refreshments, which had been kept in seclusion, away from her husband's chance discovery by Mrs. Graham, made their appearance. A beautiful birthday cake was served together with delicious punch, bananas and roasted peanuts.

The affair proved a most delightful one and those who enjoyed it were the honoree and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Graham; Mr. and Mrs. C. Cook and Chas Cook, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Sprinkle, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Berry, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Graham, Miss Ethel Graham, Mr. and Mrs. George Gerhart, Frank Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. B. Crane, Misses Mary and Florete Crane, S. J. Crane, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Hall and family.

Elmer Gothard, who has been laid up with an attack of the flu, was sufficiently recovered to return to work Monday.

Little David Gardner has again been confined to his bed with a relapse from influenza. Neither Mr. nor Mrs. Gardner have yet recovered sufficiently to be up yet. Mr. Gardner relapsed after being up for a short time and suffered a touch of pneumonia which made his condition worse for several days. Hayden, Mabel and Geraldine, all of whom have had the disease, are convalescing nicely. Mrs. McKinnon, the practical nurse who has been with them since the first of their illness, was called to her home at Garden Grove Monday night by the illness of her two children who had taken the influenza. Mrs. Earl Gardner, a sister-in-law from Bolsa, stayed with the Gardners that night and all efforts were being made to find another nurse, the last heard.

Mrs. J. O. Pyle, accompanied by her sister, Mrs. John Kettler, drove to Long Beach Saturday, where she was met by Frank Pyle, a nephew of her husband, who returned with her and remained over the week-end as a guest at their home. Pyle is of the crew of the U. S. S. Texas, stationed at San Pedro.

Mrs. W. W. Blaylock, Chas. and William Blaylock are still confined to their beds with influenza. Blaylock's temperature had been standing at 100 degrees since her illness, until Sunday, when it went up a degree, but was down to 99 degrees the last heard, Monday. Little William also was very ill Sunday but appeared better Monday. Mr. Blaylock and Chas. were greatly improved Monday and the former expected to get up for a short time Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Graham were in Los Angeles for the day, Wednesday. Thelma and Effie Karner, Richard and Raymond Wells and Evelyn Ely were in attendance at Oceanview school Monday for the first time since their recovery from influenza.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Graham and daughter, Miss Ethel Graham, were in Puente Saturday, where they spent the day with Mr. and Mrs. Riley Graham.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Hall and family moved the past week to one of Geo. B. Crane's houses. Hall is employed by Crane.

Louis Steck received his new Walis tractor last week and is using it to plow up his pea land.

S. A. LEGION POST ROOMS FURNISHED

Members of Santa Ana Post No. 131, American Legion, at their meeting Thursday night, will find the reading room and lounge room of the post headquarters in the First National Bank building thoroughly furnished. In the neighborhood of $750 is being spent this week on furnishings and these are being placed as soon as ordered.

Most of the furniture is on the mission style, upholstered in leather. The reading and lounge rooms are the only two rooms to be furnished at this time, but the furniture that has been purchased will be ample for all present needs of the organization. The furniture being purchased at this time is of standard design, this plan being followed out in order that in making purchases in the future it will be an easy matter to match the various articles.

The entertainment committee of the Post has been busy during the last few days preparing a program for Thursday night's meeting. The entertainment will follow the usual business meeting.

HAD CHRONIC BRONCHITIS FOR TWENTY-SIX YEARS NOW WELL AND HAPPY

THIS IS WORTH READING

The experience of Mr. E. J. Toupalik, 1438 Rost street, LaCrosse, Wisconsin, is chiefly remarkable on account of the length of time he was afflicted.

He writes: "I have been suffering with chronic bronchitis for twenty-six years and every winter I would catch cold and become so hoarse I could not speak for six or eight weeks. I could get only temporary relief."

"This winter I was taken with Grip and was in awful shape. A fellow workman advised me to take PERU-NA. By the time I had used three-fourths of a bottle, the hoarseness was gone, also that tired feeling. I am on my second bottle. Hereafter PERU-NA will be constantly in my house. It is the best medicine ever put up for the purpose."

For any disease due to catarrh or catarrhal conditions, PERU-NA is equally dependable. Coughs, colds, catarrh of the head, stomach trouble, constipation, rheumatism, pains in the back, side and loins, bloating, belching gas, indigestion, catarrh of the large and small intestines, are some of the troubles for which PERU-NA is especially recommended.

PERU-NA can be purchased anywhere in either tablet or liquid form.

CLEVELAND SIX

No Other Light Car Offers So Much

Unusual power and control, quick pick-up and extraordinary acceleration to real speed, are features inherent in the Cleveland Six and features with which Cleveland owners are delighted.

Many a Cleveland Six owner has said, "It would be hard to tell you what a good car the Cleveland honestly is. It's wonderful."

The Cleveland is wonderful because it is a splendidly developed and finished product, not a car rushed into the market. Three years ago the plans for production of this car were far advanced. But, with war approaching, production and marketing were delayed though experimental and engineering work were continued and test cars kept on the road. When war ended, came the Cleveland.

Built in a fine big factory, with all conditions and equipment assuring the very best of manufacture, and built by men whose successful experience had been wholly in the production of fine cars, the Cleveland Six began rolling out to the world last August. Since then thousands have gone to delighted owners, and thousands more are going every month.

There isn't any other light car that will give you so much of all that you wish, and at such a fair price.

Come let us show you what a car the Cleveland is

Barnes Circus Arrives After Escondido Wreck

The Parade This Morning Failed In Show Day for Santa Ana

In spite of a wreck at Escondido, Al G. Barnes' Wild West Circus arrived here this morning. Instead of daylight it was 9:30 o'clock when the train pulled in and because of the delay no parade was held.

The press agent said that the car containing the elephants was wrecked near Escondido, and turned over on its side. The elephants were excited, and instead of waiting for a wrecking crew to get the car back on the tracks, the elephants were put to use and they soon had the car in its place. Presto! Just like that!

The parade was on the streets this morning shortly before noon. That is, it should have been. The press agent's description of it, had it taken place follows:

The crowd saw "Old Glory" proudly floating in the breeze at the head of a long column of gaily decorated circus wagons, prancing horses ridden by pretty ladies of the "big top" family, trained animals, funny clowns, and many other attractions which well remunerated the long wait. The sun adding its splendor to the pageant that conspicuously forecast a myriad of thrilling features under canvas at the show grounds. Bands from atop the big wagons, the kind that every kid would gladly follow away, spread harmony galore. Calliopes, too, augmented the musical extravaganza and wild animals of all species paced their cages, eager to do their part of entertaining. A band of 60 of the little tots.

Two sideshows opened before the big show—every freak and curiosity was represented. The circus grounds are between the two railroads.

A hundred other things were there. Red lemonade, balloons and all were in evidence. Then the big show, many species of wild life was there—elephants, camels, zebras, llamas, sacred cows of India, sea lions, seals, leopards, tigers, pumas, jaguars, dogs, monkeys, goats, pigs, ostriches, kangaroos and even a troupe of trained geese, all ready for their entertainment. A band of 60 pieces played, and funny clowns amused the crowds 'till the show began.

One hundred and ten varied animal features are given—each one a wonderful display of nerve and daring. Besides the thirty clowns, 110 wild animal features, 1200 wild and tame animals, over 200 performers and trainers which made Al G. Barnes' name stand before the public as the greatest educator of wild animals on earth. Another performance will be given tonight. Doors open at 7 and performance at 8.

MASONIC NOTICE

BIG INCREASE IN OUTPUT OF CAL. PRODUCTS

To cope with increased output of California products, the Pacific Fruit Express will spend two million dollars this year in enlarging its icing facilities. C. M. Secrist, vice-president and general manager, announced today. This is in addition to the 4000 new refrigerator cars already announced, and which will cost between fifteen and sixteen millions.

"Regardless of the high cost of machinery, building materials and labor," said Secrist, "we are making an effort to provide shippers with the increased facilities they require for preservation and transportation of their products."

Secrist stated that the Pacific Fruit Express in 1919 used approximately one million tons of ice, manufacturing 231,000 tons, harvesting 175,000 tons and contracting for the balance. This ice was almost all used to protect shipments moving over the Southern Pacific and Union Pacific lines, owners of the P. F. E. Due to the fact that cars are iced seven or eight times between the Pacific coast and Chicago, almost half a million icings were necessary in 1919 to safeguard shippers.

The contemplated improvements will include:

Roseville, Calif.—Conversion of plant to electric drive, installation of additional 150-ton daily electric-driven unit and extension of icing platform at a cost of $239,000.

Colton, Calif.—Installation of additional 175-ton daily electric drive unit and increase in day storage at a cost of $210,500.

Los Angeles.—Conversion of steam plant to electric drive; installation of additional 100-ton daily electric-driven unit and construction of 12,000 ton storage room.

Sparks, Nev.—Abandonment of the icing station at Truckee and the establishing of a regular icing station at Sparks for all shipments moving over Southern Pacific under refrigeration. Construction of an electric driven artificial ice manufacturing plant of 150-ton daily capacity and 20,000 ton storage, costing $369,500.

North Platte, Neb.—Abandonment of present ice houses and construction of new icing plant and installation of a new 50 carload capacity platform at a cost of $464,000.

Wallula, Wash.—Conversion of the present natural ice storage house to artificial ice manufacturing plant of 4000 tons daily capacity at a cost of $66,000.

Carlin, Nev.—Increase storage capacity by 10,000 tons and lengthen platform by ten-car lengths. Cost $62,670.

Laramie, Wyo.—Construction of a modern natural ice storage house of 25,000 tons capacity and new icing platform of 55-car lengths to cost $177,000.

WILL APPEAL AGAINST FINE IN COX'S COURT

Following his conviction yesterday on a charge of removing a road barricade in the neighborhood of Buena Park placed by the paving firm of Wolfe & Bressler, H. J. Barneson of Fullerton filed notice of his intention to appeal. Barneson was fined $10 by Judge Cox. He posted $100 cash bail with the justice in support of his appeal. Barneson appeared before Judge Cox without attorney or witnesses. The complaint was filed by C. E. Bressler, who charged Barneson with removing the barricade to let his automobile pass and then running over and breaking one of the 2x's used as part of the barricade. Barneson said some one else had removed the barricade. Judge Cox decided for the plaintiff because of a preponderance of evidence.

SAYS IT KEPT HIM ON THE PAY ROLL

"Nothing kept me on the payroll of the Illinois Meter Co. but Tanlac," said G. C. James, who lives at 1419 Franklin Ave., Springfield, Ill.

"I had suffered from rheumatism and stomach trouble for fifteen years," he continued, "and got in such bad shape I could hardly get about. The rheumatism was especially bad in my legs and some times my left leg would swell to twice its normal size. My kidneys were also in such a condition I could seldom get a good night's rest, and so far as eating was concerned—well, before I began taking Tanlac, I had not enjoyed a meal in years. I suffered so from indigestion, and I had such dizzy spells I would have to lie down. I became so weak I would often give out completely while at work and they would have to take me home in a car, so it is a wonder I held out at all."

"One day one of the men I work with suggested that I try Tanlac and as long as I live I will praise the day I bought it, for I haven't a trace of rheumatism now and I eat everything set before me without any bad after effects. The dizzy spells are things of the past and my kidneys never bother me any more; every night I sleep like a log and I weigh just thirty-eight pounds more than I did when I began taking Tanlac. I feel twenty years younger and am in perfect health, and there is nothing in the world I would take for the good Tanlac has done me."

Tanlac is sold in Santa Ana by Rowley Drug Co., and the leading druggists in every town.

UNSCATCHED IN WAR, IS HURT IN KITCHEN

NEW YORK, March 10.—After dodging German bullets and surviving many gas attacks while overseas as a member of the 77th Division, Thomas Murphy, 32, a clerk, living at Princess Bay, S. I., was taken to the Staten Island hospital recently suffering from injuries received when the waterback in the kitchen range exploded.

Murphy, who lives with his mother and sister, lighted a fire in the range and was about to put on the coffee when the explosion occurred. His sister heard the noise and ran to the kitchen, where she found her brother stretched out on the floor. One of his legs was broken, his right shoulder was dislocated and twelve teeth were knocked out when the coffee pot was blown from the stove and struck him in the face.

BRAZIL CLERGY WAR ON PRESENT STYLES

RIO DE JANEIRO, March 10.—A campaign against prevailing modes in feminine attire has been inaugurated by the Catholic clergy of Brazil.

One bishop recently advised his clergy to deny communion to those who presented themselves unsuitably attired, while an archbishop has made the exaggeration of fashions the subject of a pastoral letter.

Monseigneur Maximiano Leite, the vicar general, in an interview stated that the clergy had decided to wage a campaign from the pulpit against the prevailing costumes. He declared there was an excess of nudity in present-day feminine garments profoundly dangerous to morals. The climate, he said, was made the pretext for lamentable excesses.

U. S. CANDY EXPORTS SHOW VAST INCREASE

WASHINGTON, March 10.—Exports of confectionery from the United States during 1919 increased tenfold over 1918, according to statistics compiled by the department of commerce, the declared value being $12,305,000 against $1,225,000. Imports totaled only $195,000. The enforcement of embargoes by foreign countries during the first half of last year prevented the record exports from being at least 30 per cent greater, it was estimated.

Great Britain took 34 per cent of the total. Shipments to the Orient also showed large increases.

Eight hundred and forty-five days' actual farm experience is the average for eighty-six junior and senior students of the College of Agriculture enrolled this semester at the University of California Farm, Davis. Seventy-one of the students have had agricultural experience during a period of from 3 months to five or six years, while the remaining embryo agriculturists have had between two and three months' work.

Johnson Tells Register Of Bees' Camp Routine

"The gang"—which is the manner in which Ernie Johnson, manager of the Salt Lake baseball club of the Coast League, describes that organization—charges him with "cheating," in that he reported to the Bees' training camp at Boyes Springs, north of San Francisco, in "the pink of condition."

That Johnson actually was in the aforementioned "pink" when he arrived at camp in order to begin cracking the whip over the Bees athletes is vouched for by no other than himself, in a letter written to the Register.

Johnson says he told "the gang" that he got himself into shape during the winter he spent at Laguna Beach by diving after abalones, and "getting away from the game warden for having more than the limit."

Seriously, however, Johnson declares that despite having had his hands full since reporting to Boyes Springs he took time out to let "the home boys" know how he was getting along.

"This is an ideal place in which to train. The weather has been great and we are taking advantage of it now, while it lasts," says Johnson.

"Our work so far consists of 12-mile hikes after breakfast and a two-and-a-half-hour session on the field in the afternoon. We now have fourteen men in camp and by next week they will all have reported."

"Gould, one of my best pitchers, telegraphed me that he can't report, owing to a serious illness. I have sent word for him to come and recuperate in California."

"Walter Leverenz had blood poison, but is now getting along fine and will be ready Monday."

"Krug and Reilly are hold-outs, but I expect acceptances shortly."

"Joe Jenkins, purchased from the White Sox, shows he can hit, and will make a great catcher in this league."

NUTRATED IRON

TO HELP BUILD UP
THEIR HEALTH
STRENGTH AND ENDURANCE

Look around at the men and women you meet in a single day. One glance is enough to tell the ones with plenty of red, red blood, strength and physical energy to back up their mental power and make them a success in whatever they undertake.

Dr. James Francis Sullivan, formerly physician of Bellevue Hospital (Outdoor Dept.), New York, and the Westchester County Hospital, says that to help make strong, keen, red-blooded Americans there is nothing so valuable as organic iron—Nuxated Iron. It often increases the strength and endurance of weak, nervous, run-down people in two weeks' time. It is conservatively estimated that Nuxated Iron is now being used by over three million people annually, and it has been used and endorsed by such men as Ignace Jan Paderewski, Ex-Premier of Poland and Master Pianist; United States Judge G. W. Atkinson, of the Court of Claims of Washington; also former Health Commissioner Wm. R. Kerr, of Chicago, and others. Nuxated Iron is dispensed by all good druggists everywhere.

JUDGE COX LIFE MEMBER OF AUTO CLUB

Although Judge Cox does not own an automobile and never intends to own one, he is nevertheless a life member of the United Auto Clubs of America, Inc., a membership card in that organization having been received by him today from Col. J. M. Plovers, general manager of the organization.

According to the letter accompanying the membership card, this honor has been conferred on Judge Cox because of his recognized fair dealing with speeding motorists. The letter also goes on to state that the judge has the full support of the club in his efforts to make the highways safe.

The club is publishing a booklet containing various automobile routes throughout Southern California. Considerable space is devoted to Orange county and this booklet, in addition to telling of the many beautiful drives to be found within the county, advises motorists to follow the law strictly while in the county in order not to run afoul of the "best and most feared Justice of the Peace in the state."

U. S. CAN MAINTAIN 500,000,000—LANE

LOS ANGELES, Mar. 10.—The United States is capable of maintaining 500,000,000 persons, provided more than 300,000,000 acres of unproductive land are made productive through irrigation, according to Franklin K. Lane, former secretary of the interior.

In a speech here, Lane outlined a plan whereby he would make the Colorado river into a gigantic reservoir.

He suggested breaking down the walls of the Grand Canyon 100 miles this side of El Tovar, creating the greatest dam of its kind in the world and irrigating from the great unproductive areas in the southwest. Lane is here as the guest of Edward L. Doheny, bi goil producer, with whom he is now associated.

Some of the people who insist on the United States having nothing to do with European affairs seem to forget that we recently bought $25,000,000,000 interest in European affairs.

FRIENDS SEEK MAN SUPPOSED ILL HERE

Does any one in Santa Ana know T. R. Riles? A man by that name is being sought by U. R. Crunk of Houston, Texas, from whom Sheriff Jackson has received a telegram asking for information as to Riles' condition. Evidently Riles has informed friends in Texas that he is sick or injured and is in a hospital or hotel in Santa Ana.

Sheriff Jackson has visited all of Santa Ana's hotels, rooming houses and the hospitals in an effort to locate the man but thus far has been unsuccessful. According to the description of Riles sent from Texas he has red hair, light complexion and freckles on his hands.

Any one knowing a man answering this description is asked to communicate with Sheriff Jackson.

MACHINIST MATES' SCHOOL RE-OPENS

Word has been received by the local navy recruiting officer, Leslie Pinkham, chief gunners' mate, that the Machinist Mates' school at Hampton Roads, Virginia, is again open for enlistments. The school was closed to enlisted men when it reached its maximum capacity in June, 1919. This is one of the most popular trades in the navy. It is an eighteen months' course. Another school recently opened to enlisted men is that for coppermiths. This is a six months' course.

The local recruiting officer also announces that any honorably discharged man who has completed a full term of enlistment, or enlistment expiring within three months from completion of full term of enlistment, may enroll in the Fleet Naval Reserve and receive two months pay a year, and at any time, if he so desires, may re-enlist in the regular navy under continuous service and receive a bonus the same as if he were re-enlisting with in four months from date of discharge.

In addition to the above, enlisted men who have not completed a full term of service and were honorably discharged and who have had three months duty at sea, may enlist in class two of the reserve.

One of the first local boys to take advantage of the navy department's generous ruling was H. H. Jackman, pharmacist's mate, second class.

ATTORNEYS O. K. H. S. BOND ISSUE

The $110,000 worth of Santa Ana High School District bonds voted on January 13, 1920, have been approved by the law firm of O'Melveny, Millin & Tuller, of Los Angeles, to whom the election proceedings were referred by the First National Bank of Santa Ana, successful bidder for the issue, and the bonds will probably be delivered Thursday to the bank.

The bank received word from the attorneys today that the proceedings met all requirements of the law. The bonds are numbered from 1 to 110, each being in the sum of $1000. The bonds will pay five per cent interest.

The money derived from the bonds will be used in making additions to the present school buildings and the erection of an auditorium.

F. L. Andrews, secretary of the board of education, was gratified to learn that the bonds had been approved. He said the architect, Norman Marsh, has been advised to complete the plans for the building work proposed and to prepare a notice calling for bids. As soon as the money for the bonds is turned over to the county treasurer by the bank, the notice will be published and work rushed ahead in order to complete the proposed improvements as early as possible.

Southern California

LOS ANGELES, Mar. 10.—"As many as 2000 persons frequently visit our office in a single day and our sales department is handling from 8,000 to 10,000 orders per month," said a report, available today, and issued by the Southern California Telephone Company. Traffic over the company's lines has doubled in a year, according to the statement.

SAWTELLE, Mar. 10.—The jealousy of women, who disliked the popularity of Mrs. Emma Arnot among the old soldiers who patronized her barber shop here, was ascribed today as the reason for a fire which destroyed a small building, in which Mrs. Arnot had stored some of the things she saved from a fire of mysterious origin which destroyed her shop several months ago.

LOS ANGELES, Mar. 10.—A proposition for a bond issue to provide for a $2,000,000 school and library building for a public library here, was before the city council today. The plan was submitted by the board of library directors.

CALEXICO, Mar. 10.—Indications are that the cotton industry, which gives Calexico its greatest source of growth, will this year have an even greater volume than it had last year, it was stated today. The city's building permits during 1919 showed over $700,000 invested in new structures.

LOS ANGELES, Mar. 10.—That P. J. Dreher would be elected the new president of the California Fruit Growers' Exchange, the world's greatest citrus distributor, when the election was held at 11 o'clock this morning was the advance announcement made in a local morning paper. Dreher was to be formally elected to succeed F. Q. Story, resigned. The oldest member of the Exchange board of directors, Dreher has been first vice-president during 16 years of Story's presidency. Dreher has been prominently identified with the citrus industry since he came to California in 1886. He was the leader, in 1892, in the organization of the Claremont California Fruit Growers' Association, the first co-operative citrus fruit marketing organization in the state. Dreher laid the foundation for co-operative marketing.

LONG BEACH, Mar. 10.—A meeting was to be arranged today to decide what is to be done in the cases of sailors arrested in this city for ordinance violations. Request for the meeting was made by a local police judge to the Executive Officer of the Submarine Base and also to the commanding officer of the Pacific Fleet at San Pedro, following a clash between two-score sailors from the U. S. S. Idaho and the police at headquarters, when the bluejackets arrived en masse to demand the release of two sailors who had been jailed for alleged intoxication.

CALEXICO, Mar. 10.—Between 200 and 300 bales of cotton at the Calexico cotton compress were today in a completely destroyed or badly damaged condition, following a fire in which damage estimated at between $75,000 and $100,000 was done. The cause of the blaze is unknown. More than 12,000 bales of cotton were stored in the yard. The loss was covered by insurance.

One Reason Why Meat Costs More Than It Ought To

By A. V. NAPIER.

It may be that a dollar doesn't go as far as it once did, but it certainly does get there a great deal quicker.

There is probably cause for complaint about the high prices of a good many of the necessities of life, but in most cases the high cost of living seems to be the result of a demand for the higher priced articles.

This appears to be true especially regarding meats. Henry Seidel, at Seidel's market on West Fourth street, said this morning that the less expensive cuts of beef are going begging.

"People generally are demanding loin steaks and the choicest cuts from the hind quarters," he said. "This market, and no doubt several others in Santa Ana, are selling fore-quarter cuts for less money than they cost us, simply because the public wants more expensive meat."

The fact of the matter is that the fore-quarter meats, when properly prepared, are just as appetizing and equally as wholesome as the more expensive selections. With the demand for high priced meat greater than the markets can supply, it is perfectly natural that the price should keep right on climbing and that's exactly what it is doing.

There are many other lines in which the same principle is working. It is not reasonable to expect that the prices of clothing to recede as long as women and men are buying and demanding $75 suits.

Boycotts and legislation and special investigations will never bring the cost of living down. Money is cheap and the people are pouring it out like water, forgetting apparently that the time is coming when a dollar will again be worth one hundred cents. The time will come eventually when a dollar will buy twice the amount of beef or calico that it will purchase today, and it follows that the man who saves a hundred dollars now will find it worth two hundred in a few years.

IN UNION THERE IS STRENGTH

When the FIRST NATIONAL BANK AND THE FARMERS AND MERCHANTS NATIONAL BANK were consolidated a year ago, the directors of the two banks were unanimously of the opinion that the consolidation would be of

BENEFIT TO SANTA ANA AND ORANGE COUNTY.

as well as advantageous to the Banks. The business of Orange County, based on nearly A HUNDRED MILLION DOLLARS WORTH OF PRODUCTS OF THE SOIL, had grown rapidly during the preceding decade to tremendous proportions, REQUIRING BANKING FACILITIES FAR IN EXCESS OF THE AVERAGE REQUIREMENTS OF MOST TOWNS THE SIZE OF SANTA ANA.

It is, therefore, exceedingly gratifying to us to find, at the end of the first year of the consolidation, that

OUR JUDGMENT HAS BEEN FULLY CONFIRMED BY THE VERDICT OF THE PEOPLE OF SANTA ANA AND ORANGE COUNTY.

This verdict is rendered in the form of an increase in our deposits of 34.7 per cent OVER THE COMBINED DEPOSITS OF BOTH BANKS AT THE TIME OF CONSOLIDATION.

The consolidation of the First National and the Farmers and Merchants National was effected on Washington's birthday, 1919. Six days later the U. S. Treasury called for a report of the condition of national banks. Comparing our statement of that date with our statement published in last Saturday's Register, we find:

March 4th, 1920, (one year after consolidation)	$6,267,065.94
Deposits
Feb. 28th, 1919, (six days after consolidation)	$4,726,361.19
Deposits
Increase in one year over and above combined deposits at time of consolidation	$1,540,704.75

Thus we have the verdict of the people of Santa Ana and Orange County. If the consolidation had not been a good thing for the community as well as for the banks, the deposits could not have been increased OVER 34 PER CENT IN ONE YEAR, OVER AND ABOVE THE COMBINED DEPOSITS OF THE TWO BANKS AT THE TIME OF CONSOLIDATION.

That this increase is net and BONA FIDE in every way—not the result of any transfer or interchange of funds of co-operative banks—is shown by a comparative statement of the FARMERS & MERCHANTS SAVINGS BANK, the stock of which is owned exclusively by the FIRST NATIONAL BANK.

At the time of the consolidation of the FIRST NATIONAL and the FARMERS & MERCHANTS NATIONAL an agreement was entered into for the consolidation of the SANTA ANA SAVINGS BANK (an auxiliary of the First National) and the HOME SAVINGS BANK (an auxiliary of the Farmers & Merchants); but owing to technical difficulties the actual consolidation of the savings banks was not effected until July 1st, 1919.

Comparing the deposits of the two savings banks at THAT time with the deposits of the FARMERS & MERCHANTS SAVINGS BANK at the PRESENT time, we find:

Feb. 28th, 1920. Deposits of the Farmers & Merchant Savings Bank	$2,120,912.86
July 1, 1919, combined deposits of the two banks then consolidated	$1,554,442.92
Increase in deposits in a little over 8 months . . .	$ 566,469.94

Thus the combined increase in the deposits of the TWO banks, (First National in 12 months, Farmers & Merchants in 8 months) over the combined deposits of the FOUR banks at the time of the respective consolidations, is shown to be $2,107,174.69

Combined Statement

(OF FEB. 28, 1920)

COMBINED CAPITAL, SURPLUS AND PROFITS	$1,072,674.25
COMBINED DEPOSITS	8,387,978.80

Bankers Are Back of Farm Bureau Dairy Project

ASSOCIATION'S LEMON ACREAGE AT TUSTIN IS INCREASED

F. B. Browning Again President and Roy Runnells Again Manager

With 200 acres of lemons recently joining, and with a bumper crop of fine lemons on the trees, the Tustin Lemon Association has begun a big year. Although thirty-five per cent of the acreage that was in this association a year ago is now served by two new association packing houses, the Tustin Lemon Association this year is going to make up the difference. It is a fine outlook for an association that stands among those at the top.

Yesterday afternoon the annual meeting of the stockholders of the association was held at the packing house at Tustin. F. B. Browning, president of the association, presided.

Four of the old board of directors, F. B. Browning, W. D. Flippin, Perry Lewis and J. P. Hight were re-elected. C. D. Holmes was elected to take the place of C. E. Utt, who is to be away from the county for several months this year. In the organization of the new board Browning was re-elected president; Flippin, vice-president; Roy Runnells, secretary and manager; J. Howard Turner, treasurer, and the First National Bank of Santa Ana, depository.

Reviews Prospects
In reviewing the prospects for the year, President Browning stated that the orchards of the association have a much larger crop on the trees this year than they had last year, and the fruit is in good shape. He said that a number of orchards in the Harper district will this year ship through the Tustin association.

The report read by Manager Runnells shows that during 1919 the house shipped 3,970,965 pounds of lemons, making 52,669 packed boxes. There was $139,368.43 paid to the growers, an average of $3.464 per 100 pounds being shown for the regular established brands of the association.

During 1919 the supply department handled $26,445.95 in fertilizer and supplies for growers.

The investment reports show $42,710.40 in plant and equipment, $3,432.22 in growers' supplies and $9,756.34 in fruit growers and by-products stocks.

The movement to have the Sunkist brand of the California Fruit Growers' Exchange hereafter to include what is now known as the choice grade, with the probable exception of the least desirable of the present choice grade, was discussed by L. D. Palmer, manager of the Orange County Fruit Exchange.

Take in Choice
Palmer said that the directors of the California Fruit Growers' Exchange have found that their national advertising has created conditions that make it advisable to include a greater proportion of the citrus product under the Sunkist brand than has been included, and at the same time to reduce the quality of the eatable fruit.

"The outlook for lemons is very good," said Palmer. "Three months ago the outlook was not good, but the influenza epidemic brought on a good demand so that lemons have been bringing good prices the last six weeks. There will be a decline now for a time until the speculative factor enters into eastern buying."

"Last year was not a good lemon year so far as the demand was concerned. The East did not have the long hot spells that bring great demand. The hot spells were unusually short. Considering the situation for the year, the lemons did very well."

Palmer commended the Tustin Association. He closed his remarks by declaring a high protective tariff is going to be necessary in order to adequately protect the lemon growers of this country from foreign lemons.

SEES MILD WINTER IN BIRDS' PRESENCE

ELYRIA, O., March 10.—Henry Collins was appealed with the first sign of a spring story. Collins says he saw a robin and close by it a red bird. Old-timers stick to the old story that the failure of either robin or red bird to migrate south for the winter is a sign of a mild and short winter. This despite the cold snap supplemented with a shortage of gas and insufficient, periodically, to keep lights burning. Cold meals were served in many Elyria homes Friday.

Cover Crop Reaches Its Greatest Value Just As It's Coming Into Bloom

"The cover crop reaches its greatest value just about the time it comes into bloom," declared Farm Advisor H. E. Wahlberg in a talk at the El Modena Farm Center meeting Monday evening of this week.

Over 250 people attended the El Modena meeting. The auditorium was packed. With the matters of farm center business and the addresses on farm matters was an excellent program.

The officers elected were: President, W. P. Read; vice-president, G. L. Carlton; secretary-treasurer, Clate Standfield; director, W. T. Chapman. Farm Advisor Wahlberg spoke on the subject, "When Should a Cover Crop be Turned Under."

"The cover crop reaches its greatest value just about the time it comes into bloom," said he. "The nitrogen content has reached its maximum at that time and the plant is in a semi-succulent condition which when turned under rots in a reasonably short time and becomes available to the tree roots the same season. In this condition it also encourages the greatest bacterial action which is necessary for breaking down the chemical compounds of the soil into available plant food elements."

Use Soil Auger
Wahlberg urged the use of the soil auger.

"Other factors that must be taken into consideration when plowing under a crop," said he, "are the moisture content of the soil and the blooming period of the tree. It is better to turn the crop sometimes previous or after the main blooming period so as not to disturb the feeder root system at a time when the tree requires the maximum amount of nourishment."

"Also study the moisture content of the soil. Use the auger and see what is down three or four feet below the surface where the root area is. Too many of us farm superficially. We go by surface indications only instead of knowing actual facts where the tree roots work and feed."

AMERICAN GARDENER CAN PROFIT BY USE OF FRENCH METHOD

American gardeners could well afford to learn a lesson from the French gardeners regarding the use of manure on their land. In some cases where French gardeners are working on rented land, a clause in the lease provides that should the gardener be required to vacate the land he is permitted to remove the top soil to a specified depth. It is customary to apply anywhere from 4 to 8 inches of manure a year on French gardens. This is composted and mixed with the soil and in the course of a few weeks becomes a part of the soil itself. It is needless to state that such enormous crops are grown on this land.

While it would not be possible for American gardeners to secure sufficient quantities of manure to apply it at the rate that is used by the French gardeners, yet an effort should be made to secure as much of this material as possible and put it directly upon the land where intensive crops are to be grown. The plan of having a compost heap in one corner of the garden where everything in the nature of manure can be piled and composted together is a good one. Into this pile should go all weeds that do not bear objectionable seeds, pieces of sod, clippings from the lawn, leaves and manure. By turning the pile at intervals, a rich, mellow material is produced which is suitable for top dressing the garden soil.

Appointment of a successor to Riley to serve until the next general election will be made by Gov. William D. Stephens.

OLD HOUSES RAPPED BY G. BERNARD SHAW

LONDON, March 10.—George Bernard Shaw declares that the old cottages of England should be destroyed wholesale.

"After living in one of these 'tit-erary and artistic' houses with an exalted sense of doing the right thing," he told the Society of Arts recently "one realizes that all the time one has been living in a sort of architectural hell."

"I have come to the conclusion that what is wanted is a law that every building should be knocked down at the end of twenty years and a new one erected. That would get rid of old cottages. We have got into the incorrigible habit of sponging on the past."

"If we could avoid the destruction of human beings, I should be glad to have half a dozen great wars in Europe so that all the old buildings might be knocked down, thus forcing us by a sort of starvation to make our own architectural efforts."

PIG CLUB BUYS DEAN IS TODAY DUCRO JERSEY LITTERS FOR TESTING AS GUEST OF BUREAU

Beach Banker Talks to Members on Use of Business Methods

The three girls and five boys of the Harper Pig Club have their pigs.

Although school was closed, the boys and girls who registered for the Pig Club at Harper were rounded up by the Farm Center committee and a final meeting was held at D. J. Dodge's ranch. Dodge is president of the Harper Farm Center and has taken an active interest in making the Pig Club a reality.

He reserved two litters of purebred Duroc Jersey pigs for the club and sold them to the members at a very low price.

Lew H. Wallace, president of the First National Bank of Newport Beach, talked to the boys and girls about the value of learning how to conduct one's own business as early as possible. He told the club how he made his start raising a calf which gave him an interest in and inclination toward going into the stock and cattle business.

"Children today would be far ahead if they were given an opportunity to grow things and do so on their own responsibility," he said. "This Pig Club movement is a fine thing for Harper and any community that takes it up. It teaches the boy to use his own initiative and keep his own accounts. This may develop into a sufficiently large enough industry to supply part of the tonnage for the ships that will be coming into Newport harbor."

Wallace has shown much interest in the work since it was first planned. Several of the boys are being financed by his bank. He offers three cash prizes to the winners of the contest—$10 first prize, $5 second prize and $3 third prize. He appointed the committee and farm advisor as judges.

Rev. Bostwick, chairman of the Farm Center Pig Club committee; Mrs. Boyd and W. W. Middleton also on the committee, were present to assist in selecting and weighing the pigs for the members. The farm advisor explained how to keep the records and cost accounts for feeds, labor, etc.

The contest closes four months from today. The prizes will be awarded to the members growing the greatest weight of pork for the least cost. The judges will also consider the best kept record book and a story of how the pig was raised, etc., as counting for points.

The club will meet at the school Monday afternoon, 4 o'clock.

The final list of members includes Billie Middleton, Richard Bradley, Nina Brush, Horace Hemphill, Julian Baird, Harriet Baker, Ruth Bradley and George Baker.

Every boy and girl went home with a pig under his or her arm. The pigs are all purebreds and most of them eligible to registry.

'HIGH-JACKING' NEW 'BOOTLEGGING' STUNT

OMAHA, Neb., March 10.—Omaha bootleggers have found an easier way of getting "booze" than running it across the state lines from Missouri and other states where large quantities are "cached." They "high jack" the stuff. "High-jacking" in bootlegging parlance, is robbing private stocks—that is burglarizing the private stocks of men who were wealthy enough to have laid in supplies to last them for years and years. In the last thirty days $100,000 worth of liquor has been "high jacked" in Omaha and not a single high jacker has been captured. They have hauled the stuff on automobile trucks and in wagons, but still they have not been detected.

RECORD SALE OF BEES IS $10.65 A COLONY

SAN BERNARDINO, Mar. 10.—All records for the San Bernardino county bee industry were broken Saturday when N. E. Miller, Colton apiarist, sold 2500 colonies of bees at $10.65 a colony, netting him $23,125.

The price is the highest ever recorded in San Bernardino county. Announcement of the sale was made by B. H. Stanley, county bee inspector. Last year Stanley said, the Colton apiarist sold 4500 colonies of bees, shipping them to purchasers in Utah and Idaho. The prices, however, did not approach the record sales of this year.

NEW YORK RECEIVES VAST EGG SHIPMENT

Bunny Helps Beauty In Pose Symbolizing Easter

Miss Virginia Faire

NEW YORK, Mar. 10.—As Easter approaches, the studios of the commercial illustrators here are kept busy turning out posters and advertisements containing pictures symbolizing the event.

From time immemorial Master Bunny and Easter have been thought of synonymously. Oftentimes models, with a "Bunny Rabbit" close by, are called upon to pose for artists and photographers.

One of the most sought models is the beautiful Miss Virginia Faire. She is called upon to pose for many pictures. In one recent picture she is holding a "bunny." The effect carries a striking message of Easter.

PETITION FOR LETTERS.

Petition for letters of administration over the estate of Frank S. Todd, district foreman of the Southern California Edison company, who died suddenly last Saturday, was filed today by David O. Todd, a brother of the deceased. The estate is valued at $10,000 and consists of real and personal property. Todd left no will. The sole heir to the estate is Mary Elizabeth Todd, a daughter. Attorney W. F. Menton represents the petitioner.

IOWA FARMER SCARES AWAY LINNET PESTS

A farmer from Iowa came to California to retire, but he had to have a garden patch to while away the time. A nice house was built and a good garden planted, including some strawberries. But alas, he did not count on the linnet getting all the fruit.

But he had some ingenuity. A wire was stretched extending over the strawberries. On this were suspended a number of tin pails with a few stones in them. Then another wire was attached to the middle of this and carried to the kitchen window.

The housewife did the rest. Whenever she saw any linnet in the berries a pull on the wire made such a racket that the linnet took flight. In a few days the linnet had acquired such an aversion to that particular garden that they left it for good, and plenty of berries ripened, to the delight of the family.

LEAVES FOR CHURCH, DROPS OUT OF SIGHT

GREENWICH, Conn., March 10.—Harold E. Benedict, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Benedict, left his home at Byron Road one Sunday forenoon, presumably to attend church in Portchester, N. Y., and disappeared. Later his parents learned that he had been seen at the railroad station that afternoon, and it is believed he may have gone to New York. The police there and in all surrounding towns are seeking for him.

He was employed by the Mint Products company, Portchester, and carried with a receipt from the Carpenters' Union, a bank book, several letters and a card showing membership in Lawrence Camp No. 108, Sons of Veterans. He wore new black shoes, a mixed gray suit, his brother's army overcoat and over-seas cap.

He had not more than $15, it is said, when he went away.

PLANS TO BUILD UP COW HERDS OUTLINED AT MEETING

Financial Support for Important Industry Is Promised

Six bankers of Anaheim and Santa Ana met with the executive committee of the Farm Bureau Dairy Department to hear what the Farm Bureau plans to do for the upbuilding of the dairy industry of the county, and the result of their meeting will be shown as the industry develops, for the bankers now know the importance dairying is to Orange county.

Cow testing, importation of purebred stock, reduction of stock disease, co-operative buying of hay and feeds, and dairy demonstrations are some of the lines on which the dairy department expects to concentrate their efforts.

The Farm Advisor pointed out the possibilities for big development and growth of milk production in this vicinity to meet the increasing demands for dairy products in the next ten years. Los Angeles and Orange counties are going to be large centers of population requiring many times the present production. The Farm Bureau anticipates this increase in population and the corresponding increase in the demand for milk, and will further the interests of the community by encouraging a larger output, through better stock, more dairies and cheaper feeds.

Buying of Feeds
J. T. Raitt, chairman of the dairy committee, presented the idea of co-operative buying of hay and feeds through the dairy department. By purchasing feeds early in the season in large quantities from twenty-five to fifty per cent can be saved the dairymen.

Mr. Spaulding of Mankato, Minnesota, a Farm Bureau dairyman and hog raiser of the Middle West, told what the banks were doing to encourage and help the stock industry of his section. Two letters were read from the First National Bank and the Citizens Savings Bank of his town telling how they financed the dairymen in the purchase of purebred stock and sires. These institutions are especially solicitous of the dairy business because they realize that it is the basis for permanent agriculture.

The bankers present at this meeting were A. J. Crookshank, First National Bank, Santa Ana; E. E. Vincent and E. L. Crawford of the California National Bank, Santa Ana; F. E. Farnsworth, Orange Co. Trust and Savings Co., Santa Ana; Adolph Thomas, Golden State Bank, Anaheim; and Mr. Seaman, First National Bank, Anaheim.

Each banker expressed himself as heartily in favor of continuing to help and finance the dairymen as they are other farmers of the county.

Crookshank commended the work that the Farm Bureau was doing for agriculture in the county and said the First National Bank of Santa Ana will stand back of the project proposed by the Dairy Department. Thomas remarked that no bank would turn down a responsible, progressive dairyman who wanted to borrow for the purpose of improving the quality and blood of his herd.

BANKERS ARE BACK OF DAIRY PROJECT

Pay Back, Then Borrow. Farnsworth told how some farmers did not appreciate the assistance they received from the bank. The banks should have a pay day once a year or at least when the farmer is in a position to liquidate his notes. Then if he wishes to re-invest, he may borrow again. But very often the farmer will let the banks wait and use the money which rightfully belongs to the banks for some other purpose. Farnsworth is a farmer as well as a banker and knows the needs of the farmer, especially when harvest money is needed.

W. Dean Johnston, president of the Farm Bureau, expressed his pleasure at having the favorable expressions from every banker at this meeting.

"A closer co-operation and understanding between the business men and producers are bound to result in good," he said. "The Farm Bureau aims to help and promote the fundamental industries of the soil upon which all interests of the county are more or less dependent."

The members of the Dairy Committee are J. T. Raitt, M. Babylon, J. J. Kelley, H. L. Wakeham and P. H. Krick.

SALE OF DAIRY BULLS IS BIG SUCCESS

State University Farm Auction Sees Animals Go at Low Figure

The dairy bull sale during Stockmen's Week at the University Farm on February 27 was a notable event in the history of dairying in California. Judges from certain single points of view the sale was not a success.

Mature registered bulls, some of them proven sires, from dams having authentic records of butter fat production of over 400 pounds a year, guaranteed in every way and worth easily from $300 to $500, sold for as low as $100. It was a regular donation party and a real missionary meeting of the most significant and effective kind.

That these bulls will do real missionary work for the purebred sire in the herds to which they went, goes without saying. Most of the buyers bought their first purebred bulls at this sale, an experience more important in the experience of a dairyman than the cutting of his first tooth for the baby. The baby cuts the tooth anyhow, but some dairymen go through life without knowing that the thing most important to their success never happened.

The sale was purely an experiment. So far as known, it is the first time such a sale has been held, and the response of the breeders to the appeal of the animal husbandry division of the College of Agriculture to consign bulls from advanced registry dams for sale into grade herds, met with a most loyal and generous response.

The most encouraging feature is that more and better bulls will be offered for next year's sale. Notwithstanding the fact that the bulls sold this year, most of them for less than half their real value, breeders are already making selections of choice calves to be reserved for the sale a year from now.

The university is setting the pace by withdrawing from sale a choice ten-month-old son of California Agnes Colantha, 415 pounds of fat as a two-year old and promises to make close to 700 pounds fat with her second calf; sired by a son of the great cow, Pietertje Bloom, 783 pounds of fat in one year, and an average of over 600 pounds of fat for four years. A son of the great working Ayrshire cow, Willowmoor Cherry, with an average of 478.8 pounds of fat for three years, will also be held with equally good representatives of the Guernsey and Jersey breeds.

Leading breeders of pure bred at the ringside, including Fred Kiesel

A federal report showing the progress of the better sires movement from October 1, 1919, when inaugurated, to the end of the calendar year, includes numerous state activities.

In South Dakota a survey of 14 representative counties shows that 35 per cent of the bulls used were purebred and five counties reported an average of 52 per cent purebred boars used. It is noteworthy, however, that about 25 per cent of the purebred bulls were considered of inferior quality. The better-sires movement is aimed at the culling out of inferior purebred sires themselves as well as stopping the use of grade and scrub sires.

A Tennessee survey, reported by the county agent of Maury county, showed the following percentages of purebred sires used in that county: Boars, 63 per cent; bulls, 53 per cent; jacks, 31 per cent; rams, 19 per cent. The figures are in round numbers.

The North Carolina agricultural extension service has issued a 12-page circular showing clearly the financial value of better sires in the various classes of livestock. The circular shows by illustrations, concrete statements, and calculations how the investment in good purebred sires is quickly returned in the superior value of the offspring.

of Sacramento, Guy H. Miller, Modesto, F. W. Morris of Woodland, Manager Shaper of Hollow Hill Farms, Redlands, and Dr. Hand, all volunteered to make reservations of choice animals for next year's sale. Members of Cow Testing Associations throughout the state should keep this sale in mind. It is especially for them, and will furnish an unparalleled opportunity for securing guaranteed herd sires of the very best that can be had in California, and that means anywhere in the United States.

When visiting purebred herds during the coming year, dairy farmers should ask to be shown bulls reserved for the next year's Cow Testing Association bull sale.

50,000 FARMERS USING TRUCKS ON FARMS

At least 50,000 farmers in the United States own motor trucks which they use on their farms. This is shown by a preliminary survey of the ownership and use of motor trucks by farmers undertaken by the office of farm management and the bureau of crop estimates of the United States Department of Agriculture. The data secured by this inquiry answer many questions which have been asked repeatedly in recent years regarding the extent to which motor vehicles are used for farm hauling. Of these 50,000 trucks 1,019 are in California.

The figures on which totals for the nation and the several states are based were secured from approximately 35,000 selected crop reporters of the bureau of crop estimates. These co-operators were asked to report the names and addresses of farmers they knew who own motor trucks for farm use. Pleasure cars and trailers for use with pleasure cars were excluded, and the reporters were asked not to take account of trucks which are used primarily for general custom hauling, or on regularly established routes.

This survey can scarcely be considered a complete census for it is probable that in some localities the crop reporters were not acquainted with all the truck owners but it is certain that a very large per cent have been listed. It is believed that in no state were less than 75 per cent of the trucks reported. If not complete in every respect the figures show the relative distribution very satisfactorily.

Yuba Tractors work everywhere.

PARIS REVUE GIRL 'CLOTHED' IN GEMS

PARIS, Mar. 10.—The revues at the Paris theaters are steadily becoming more and more décolleté. For example, at the Casino de Paris there is a scene in which a romantic looking young man sings about all his loves of the past and as he describes each in turn she appears from the body of the piano, descends to the stage and flits ghost-like from his pursuit.

Finally Mlle. d'Herly arises clad in a few strings of pearls round her swan-like neck, and little else. This display is defended on the ground that the figure of this lady is so impeccably perfect that she can be regarded merely as an impersonal type of female beauty.

Whether this is exactly the spirit in which she is actually regarded by the audience is another matter; but it must be said that there is no recorded protest against the exhibition.

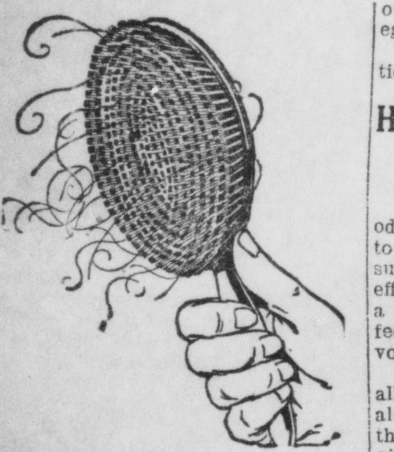

It is pointed out too that only a few years ago the costumes women wear now would have excited strong condemnation, whereas today their skirts grow shorter and shorter and seemingly with public approval. So with the costumes of the stage. Evidently it is thought that these too can be attenuated in time to the d'Herly standard without public criticism.

DIRECTIONS FOR UNIQUE PLEA MADE BY CROOKS' LAWYER PRESERVING OF EGGS GIVEN

One of the best, and at the same time simple methods for preserving eggs, which will enable the consumer to preserve eggs until the fall and winter months when the price is high, is by means of sodium silicate or water glass.

Water glass can be obtained at any drug store—the current price being about 75 cents per gallon for the commercial article. The specific gravity should be at least 1.39, corresponding to 41 degrees Baume. One gallon of water glass should be sufficient to preserve between 45 and 50 dozen eggs. The solution that is generally recommended is 1 quart of sodium silicate to 10 quarts of water. The water should be boiled before using, and water glass and water mixed thoroughly.

The best container is a crock. A 3 gallon crock will hold between 8 and 9 dozen eggs—a six gallon crock twice as many. Tin and kegs have also been used.

The eggs should be packed in the jar and the solution poured over them, covering them well. There should be about an inch of solution above the eggs. The jars should be covered, not necessarily sealed, and kept in a dark, cool place.

For packing use only perfectly fresh eggs. Eggs 4 days old, even if kept under the best conditions, are not advisable for use in this process. If one has not sufficient eggs to fill a jar the eggs can be added daily until the jar is filled. Stale eggs will not preserve and may prove harmful to the others. All packed eggs contain a little gas. In boiling such eggs will crack. This may be prevented by making a pin hole in the blunt end of the egg.

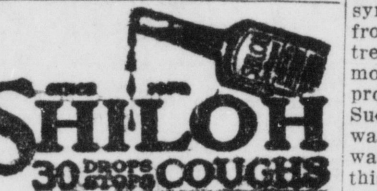

Do not wash the eggs before packing, for, by so doing, you injure their keeping quality probably by dissolving the membranous coating on the outside of the shell. Use only clean eggs.

The washed egg-shells are unobjectionable for clearing coffee.

HEN'S FOOD FLAVORS AND COLORS THE YOLK

In extreme cases the flavor and odor of the feed have been imparted to the egg. Onions have been fed in sufficient quantity to bring about this effect. Those who desire to market a first-class article should not give feeds of high and objectionable flavor to their flocks.

In no case should tainted feed be allowed to enter the ration. Feed also has an influence on the color of the yolk. Corn fed exclusively will give a deep yellow or highly colored yolk, while wheat fed alone will produce a much lighter yolk. A fairly high colored yolk is usually preferred and can usually be obtained by feeding a moderate amount of corn. Plenty of green feed also enriches the color of the yolk.

LONDON, Mar. 10.—Three young English clerks were convicted recently before the Recorder of London for stealing in the aggregate £10,600 from the city branch of the Guaranty Trust Company of New York. Fortunately for the company all the money was regained before the thieves had time to spend it. The defense put up for them was one of the most singular appeals to national prejudice ever offered.

Their lawyer urged that the theft required no "ingenuity" whatever, and was attributable to the bank having changed "from a good old-fashioned English system to a new American system of simple book-keeping, so that money was floating around in thousands without any check on it at all."

In other words, the real criminals were not the three young London clerks who took the money, but these confounded Americans who adopted their own system of book-keeping instead of the "good old-fashioned English one."

The Recorder was not impressed by this style of defense, for he pointed out what apparently the young clerks' lawyers had forgotten. That there was a question of commercial morality involved. He sentenced the prisoners to six months' imprisonment.

NEW BRUNSWICKIANS DISLIKE RUM PRICE

BANGOR, Me., Mar. 10.—From New Brunswick comes complaint that whiskey, like everything else, has gone "kiting," and that now it is impossible to get a quart of "decent" goods for less than four dollars. This does not mean split in it, nor anything with wood alcohol in it, but standard brands of Scotch or Irish, twenty ounces to the bottle, or "short quart." The New Brunswickers seem to feel that they are deserving of sympathy in this, but Maine, their nearest neighbor, has no sympathy to spare, merely remarking: "Come over here and pay $8 to $12 for the same stuff and see how you'd like it."

Whiskey now is sold at retail in New Brunswick on doctors' prescriptions under the Provincial Prohibition Act. The Rev. W. D. Wilson, who is chief inspector under the act, has not issued any advanced schedule of prices, but the retailers have boosted prices because, as they say, the St. John wholesalers have added about $10 per case to their rates, and the retailers are allowed under the law a profit of not exceeding 30 per cent.

In some places good Scotch whiskey is still to be had for $3 to $3.50 a bottle, but this, it is explained, is old stock, laid in before the wholesalers hoisted the price. The new stock cost $2 to $3 per case, and thus must retail at about $4 a bottle for the best brands.

The advance in prices in New Brunswick seems to be part of a sympathetic movement resulting from a general advance by the Montreal wholesalers following the removal of the barriers against international commerce in liquors. Such traffic was forbidden by the war-time Prohibition law, which was repealed at the beginning of this year. Wherever it comes from, and by whatever means, New Brunswick seems to have plenty of whiskey and Maine is getting a lot of it.

WOMAN CITIZENSHIP BILL UP IN HOUSE

WASHINGTON, March 10.—Representative Rogers (Rep., Mass.), before the house immigration committee, recently urged enactment of a law under which American women marrying aliens and remaining in this country would retain their citizenship after adoption of the suffrage amendment.

Mr. Rogers declared his measure did not protect wealthy "American title hunters," adding that he was not interested in extending the right of citizenship "to women who think so little of it that they go abroad to live."

In pointing out that his measure would not give the right of citizenship to an alien woman marrying an American, Mr. Rogers said this was done so that to be naturalized "a woman would have to go through the same machinery with the man."

TWO GIRL RIVALS HISTORY OF SMELT IN PARISIAN STAGE ROW

PARIS, Mar. 10.—All Paris, and particularly the theatrical world, is agitated over a quarrel between two beautiful, talented actresses, Mme. Jane Renouard and Mlle. Clara Tambour. The dreadful accusation is made that Mlle. Tambour caused to be sent to Mme. Renouard a bouquet in the stem of which was concealed a tiny, brittle vial containing a "poison" infinitely removed from that of roses. It was intended, it is said, that this vial, breaking even in Mme. Renouard's gentle clasp, would convey to her exquisite garments a most repellent odor. Indeed, the police go so far as to suggest that the vial contained concentrated carbolic acid.

It is stated that the two actresses became enemies because Mlle. Tambour lost her role as Aspasia in "Phi-Phi," a musical comedy very popular here. She accused Mme. Renouard of being responsible for it. Now Mme. Renouard turns accuser and charges that her rival plotted to destroy her costly raiment, if not her pulchritude. She declares, in a word, that Mlle. Tambour paid to a young man $200 to present two bouquets to her as she alighted from her car to enter the Theatre des Capucines, where she was playing. The story goes that the pungent vial was hidden in one of the bouquets.

Of course, Mme. Renouard receives a multitude of bouquets from her admirers, and she would have accepted these had not a certain man who knew of the plan been conscience-stricken. This man, who is well-known about town, told Mme. Renouard of what awaited her.

At once the quick-witted actress formed a counter plot. She engaged a woman to impersonate her, "made up" her face and dressed up her figure. It was the counterfeiter who alighted from Mme. Renouard's car at the theater, and to her the young man presented the bouquets. Detectives in waiting seized the "Trojan bearing gifts."

It was then that Mlle. Tambour's name was mentioned, according to gossip in the greenrooms and the clubs. When interrogated she was so highly indignant that she dispatched a friend to challenge any champion of Mme. Renouard to a duel. The challenge was sent and accepted; each knight called in a squire—or, rather, a second, in these days. The seconds decided, in effect, that Parisian theatergoers would be curious to see if they should fight when ever ladies of their acquaintance quarreled. Or, as the seconds really put it, the champions had not insulted one another, and there was no reason for them to appear on the field of honor. So no blood was shed.

Several gallant gentlemen have been brought into the case and interrogated by the police. An interesting disclosure is that, as long ago as January 1, Mme. Renouard was the recipient of a very pretty box bound with silk ribbons that contained a dead rat and a card which bore the name, "Gen. Cherif Pasha."

The newspapers give the incident more prominence than to many of the Peace Conference happenings. Which shows that France is keen for sensations in the private lives of its celebrities after five years of war.

PARAGUAY SEEKING AID OF AMERICANS

WASHINGTON, March 10.—American experts are being sought by the government of Paraguay to assist in the recently adopted program of modernizing every technical phase of governmental activity. Expert auditors, a specialist in tropical diseases, and educator qualified to remodel the system of public instruction and advisers for the departments of administration, mail and telegraph are wanted.

MOVIES OUTDONE AS MAN RETURNS RICH

MILWAUKEE, Wis., March 10.—The standard movie plot, in which the hero, down and out, goes into a strange land and returns a millionaire, found its counterpart here recently. Charles F. Glavin, former Milwaukee grain operator, went bankrupt three years ago after losing large sums in a corn deal, has returned to Milwaukee from Buenos Ayres with money to pay his $171,115.12 debts in full.

Residence Corsetiere, Spirella, Mrs. Balchen, 1515 Spurgeon, Phone 455RK.

CHEHALIS, Wash., Mar. 10 — An industry indigenous to the northwest is the annual catch of smelts which run in the Cowlitz river. The smelt market is fairly stable during the short season.

Unlike most other fish, smelts are sold by the box, usually weighing about 50 pounds. The smelt, or ulacan, as it is sometimes called, is a particularly difficult fish to handle. It spoils rapidly and is easily affected by poor methods of catching and shipping. However, smelt fishing is a competitive of a very keen competition among the takers. Both the dip net and the gill net methods are used in the Columbia waters, but the Cowlitz river fishermen have earned a good reputation for their humane treatment of these tiny fish.

The life history of the smelt is as interesting as that of the salmon. If spawned in the Cowlitz the smelt returns here to spawn, passing up the dangerous waters of the Columbia to reach its home. Some smelt are spawned in the Lewis and Sandy, to which rivers they invariably return after their life at sea. They spawn at the age of three years.

The Cowlitz smelt is claimed to be the only true smelt, as Indians and old timers claim that the smelt does not harden to the right stage for eating until he returns to the Cowlitz, and there is considerable warrant for this belief in the results obtained by packers and buyers.

The smelt spends three years in the ocean and returns to his native ground on the 1st to the 3rd of February, the run continuing until the last of March, when the season is over. Fishermen of the Cowlitz and Columbia know when the smelt are beginning to run by watching the gulls, who are intent upon stealing the smelt roe. The 1919 catch was very large and the market good. No estimate of the run has been made for comparison, so far as the market goes. The season is either good or bad on the Cowlitz.

TWIN TOTS' SMILES WIN HOME FOR THEM

NEW YORK, March 10.—Some persons are born with golden spoons in their mouths and some with smiles on their lips that make friends for them through life. Theresa and Caroline Tiedemann, five-weeks-old twins, were born with the smiles, and these have worked magic for them. Their mother, Mrs. Nicholas Tiedemann, was admitted to the Rockville Center, L. I., sanitarium January 24, and died.

Dr. M. E. Boorum of the sanitarium was left with the twins on his hands. They did not take kindly to bottle feeding, and though they smiled almost continually it was apparent that real nurses would have to be found for them. Two women patients, after seeing the dimpling cheeks of the little girls, volunteered enthusiastically to nurse them. Dr. Boorum explained the case to the Children's Aid society in Manhattan and a limousine was sent to Rockville Center with a nurse to bring them here.

When the little girls were established in one of the Manhattan homes of the Aid society every one from the cook to the superintendent fell in love with them. A woman with no children of her own, but possessing a comfortable home, saw them and begged to be allowed to adopt them and bring them up as her own. An investigation proved her satisfactory to the society and it is expected that in a few days the children will have found a loving and competent mother and a good home.

STEEL CORPORATION HOUSING PLANS LAID

NEW CASTLE, Pa., March 10.—The United States Steel Corporation is preparing to build houses for its employees in communities where housing accommodations are insufficient, according to an announcement here by George L. Paterson, President of the New Castle Board of Trade. The houses will be sold on the installment plan, each purchaser will furnish 15 per cent of the initial investment.

George A. Rigby, in charge of the New Castle mills of the corporation, it was stated, would call the employees together to explain to them the details of the plan.

2 INDIANA BOVINES VICTIMS OF RABIES

HAMMOND, Ind., March 10.—Two cows which had developed rabies and barked like dogs were killed after a hard fight on the farm of August Nelson, near Hobart, southeast of Hammond. A pet dog had become mad December 12 and bit the cows before it was killed. The cows had been isolated from other cattle and the rabies affected them. Their eyes protruded and they made sounds resembling dogs barking. After an exciting encounter they were cornered and brained with axes.

PIG CLUB PLAN IS LAUNCHED AT TUSTIN

"Pib Clubitis" seems to be the latest contagion in Orange county. Boys and girls in the sixth, seventh and eighth grades are most susceptible to it. The latest case has put in its appearance at Tustin and made itself manifest at the Tustin Farm Center last Friday evening.

Prof. Beswick of the grammar school stated that considerable interest had been expressed by several boys to start an agricultural club of some kind. He asked the farm center to get the boys and girls together and explain what the other clubs of the county and state are doing. A pig club committee will be appointed by Mr. Crawford, president of the Tustin Farm Center, to help in the organization.

Next Friday morning the farm advisor will talk to the sixth, seventh and eighth grades of the school about agricultural club work and get members lined up for the club. It is desirable that the parents of prospective members be in sympathy with the movement and give the child encouragement.

C. A. Vance of the Tustin National Bank, told the farm center that his bank was ready to give any assistance required by the boys and girls in the purchase and feeding of the pigs.

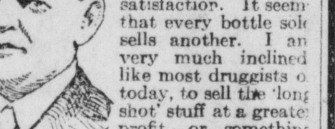

"We are very gratified to see how willingly the bankers have responded in encouraging the young generation to engage in this practical and educational movement of helping the boy and girl to help themselves," said H. E. Wahlberg.

Vance will also address the school on Friday morning.

Druggist Testifies

Redondo Beach, Calif.—"I wish to call attention to my experience in the sale of Dr. Pierce's Anuric Tablets. I have never sold an article that has given such universal satisfaction. It seems that every bottle sold today, to sell the long shot stuff at a greater profit, or something just as good, but it is suggesting Anuric for uric acid and rheumatism I consider I have not only created business along that line but have gained the confidence of the public which more than repays me for my interest and suggestion, together with the satisfaction I get from having an article that I can place with perfect confidence. Nothing would please me more than to be able to introduce Anuric to the world for the benefit of all mankind. However, I have to content myself by simply calling attention to the satisfactory results that follow as reported to me by the individuals, extending their thanks."—C. D. KNOX.

The Bastanchury Ranch

after a careful and exhaustive examination of the merits of the various tractors on the market has decided to standardize their place with the first one being delivered last week.

The Wallis is a quality tractor. Nothing but the very best materials and the very best workmanship are put into it. Where heavy iron might have been put in, light weight, high grade steel is used; by this means the Wallis has the strength without any useless dead weight to be pulled around.

The Wallis only weighs 3500 pounds but it has a constant draw-bar pull of 2000 pounds. It will do the work of eight horses anywhere, do it better and do it cheaper.

We have a Wallis taken apart at our store, so you can see just what it is made of and how it is constructed. BE SURE AND INVESTIGATE THE WALLIS BEFORE YOU BUY A TRACTOR.
